Preface

Slowing to sighs and listening to the silence, we pause for a moment in this book to reflect upon our growth in the past four years.

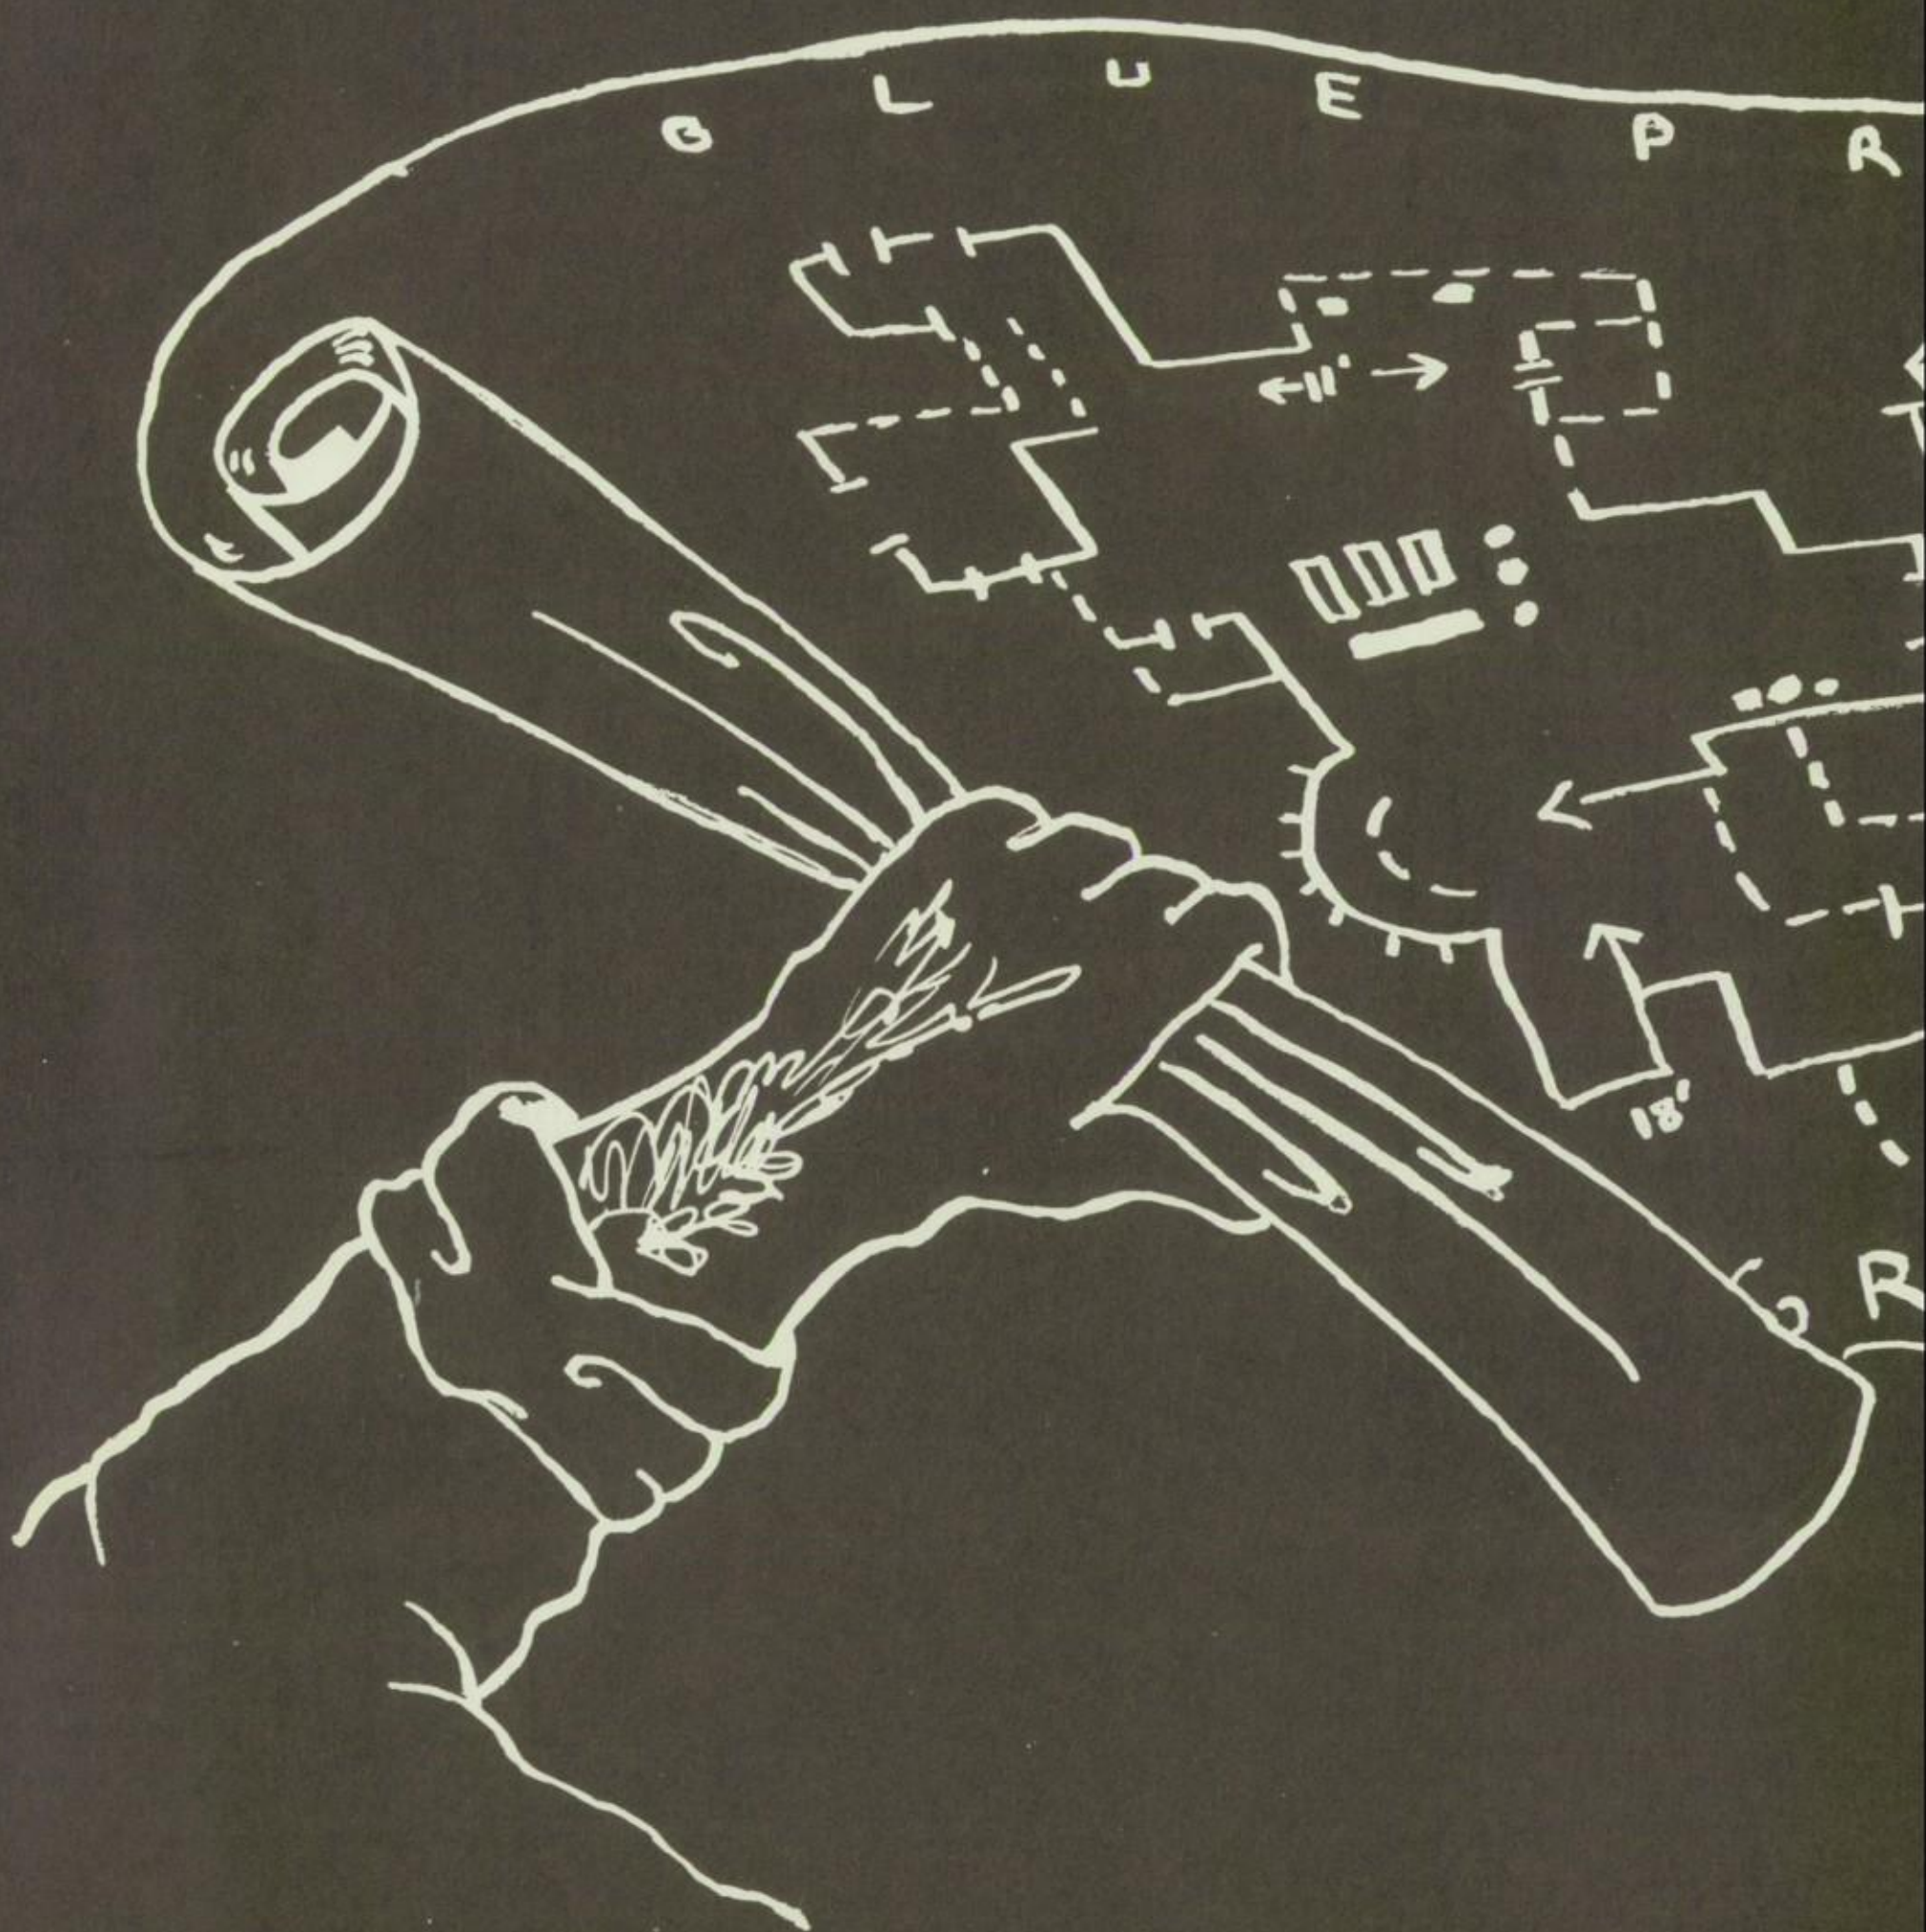

Searching in the shadows and empty darkness of days gone by, we recall memories of past toils and tribulations.

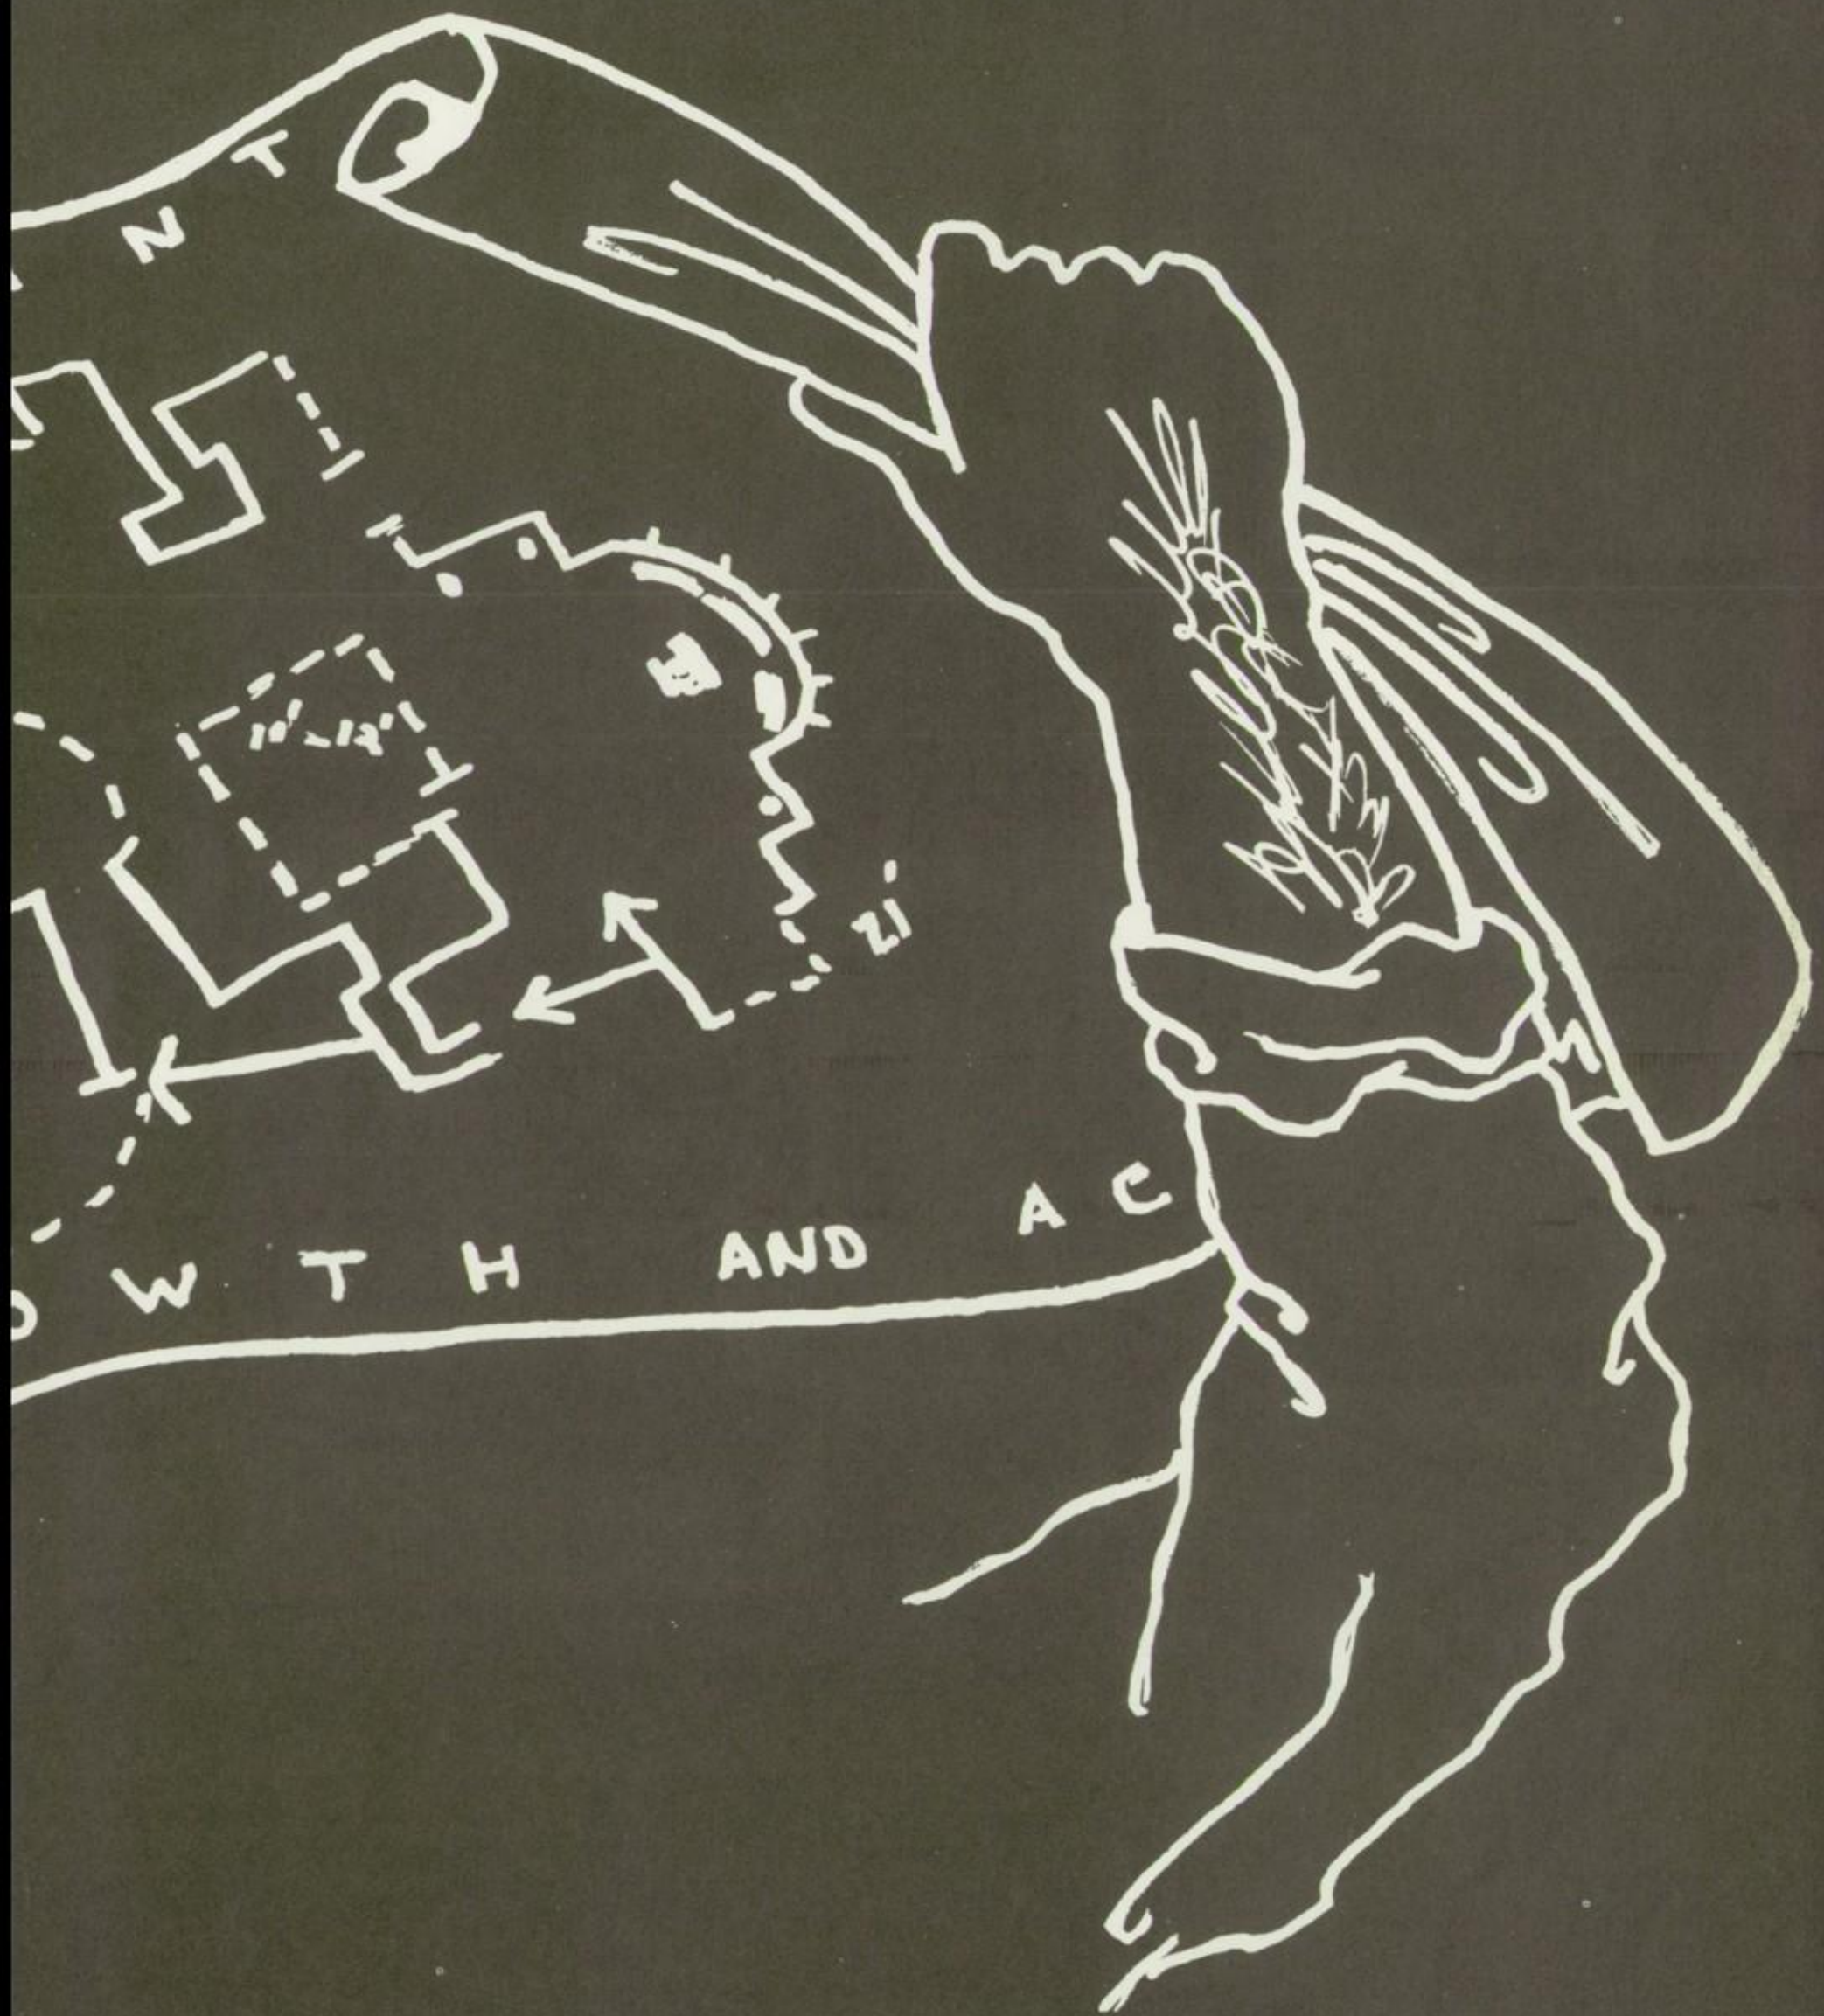

With our goals slightly altered, and our accomplishments cast aside with the hope of better ones to come, we set out on a second journey into life. Some will take a road to further schooling, while others will move toward the life of direct action and experience. Within this book, the dreams and realities, the unforeseen and forgotten memories, echo our times and achievements.

Our past direction, our past friendships die away as the birth of a changing generation assumes leadership in the Ridgefield Memorial High School.

Past achievements foreshadow our future changes.

Board of

Always diligently working to seek a better way for the Ridgefield school system, the Board of Education is composed of five dedicated men who give up their free time in order to find better means to better ends. The Board is faced not only with problems of the community, but also, those of the world such as the cost of construction and the population explosion.

It is the job of the Board to formulate policies which will affect the lives of all the children of the community. The Board must maintain an equilibrium between the community and the school system.

MR. ANTHONY SUAREZ

MR. JOHN KOWALSKY

MR. RUDOLPH KOLB

Education

Since these elected men receive no reimbursement for all their efforts, their reward lies solely in observing children mature from their individual seeds into the saplings which will grow in life to become the seeds of the nation

Under Mr. Anthony Suarez, Board president, the town has seen the addition of new techniques in the high school curriculum, and the many problems of the building expansion.

Other members of the board, Mr. Wilbur Gahn, Mr. Rudolph Kolb, Mr. Joseph Moreng, and Mr. Ferris Tryon, are served by John Kowalsky, Secretary of the Board.

To the Class of 1970:

As I ponder over a "farewell message," the question comes to my mind, "What positive influences have we, as individuals, had on your lives?" I do not think of a positive influence as persuading you to believe as we believe, to act as we act, or to say what we say. I think of it in the light of helping you to become better equipped to live in a world-wide community.

I sincerely hope that we have helped you to acquire knowledge which has enabled you to achieve a sense of identity, knowledge which will create in you a desire to live to the upper limits of your physical, mental and emotional levels. I assume that we have provided skills which will enable you to communicate effectively in reading and writing, speaking and listening, visualizing and observing. I hope we have also imparted knowledge which contributes to the sense of joy gained from worthwhile accomplishments in life.

Above and beyond these basic academic skills I hope, by example, we have influenced you to discriminate between fact and opinion, evidence and propaganda, the logical and the illogical. I trust we have portrayed a pattern which enhances the worth of human beings and creates a belief in the dignity of man.

Of utmost importance, I hope we have played some part in enabling you to discern what knowledge is most worthwhile: this means learn to judge values, to recognize the difference between the important and the trivial, the rational and the irrational. If we have helped you to achieve this knowledge, we have accomplished our task well.

To each of you I wish the best that life has to offer. I shall follow your future activities with greater interest.

W. ARTHUR SKEWES

Superintendent of Schools

To the Graduating Class of 1970:

Life is a series of developmental tasks. Basically, young people have a natural desire to develop skills which will allow them to control aspects of their environment. Our society today is permeated with the need to achieve mastery over things.

Society is also a force which shapes an individual's development, motivation, and adjustment. Every student is a unique individual differing from every other individual, and he is worthy of whatever attention and help may be necessary from society and its educational institutions for him to grow to his optimum.

I am certain that you have found your learning experiences here at Ridgefield Memorial High School valuable in their total contribution to your intellectual, physical, and emotional growth and development.

My best wishes for many years of good health, happiness, and success.

FRED J. PROCOPIO
Principal

MR. FRED J. PROCOPIO

MR. GEORGE KOCH

To the Class of 1970:

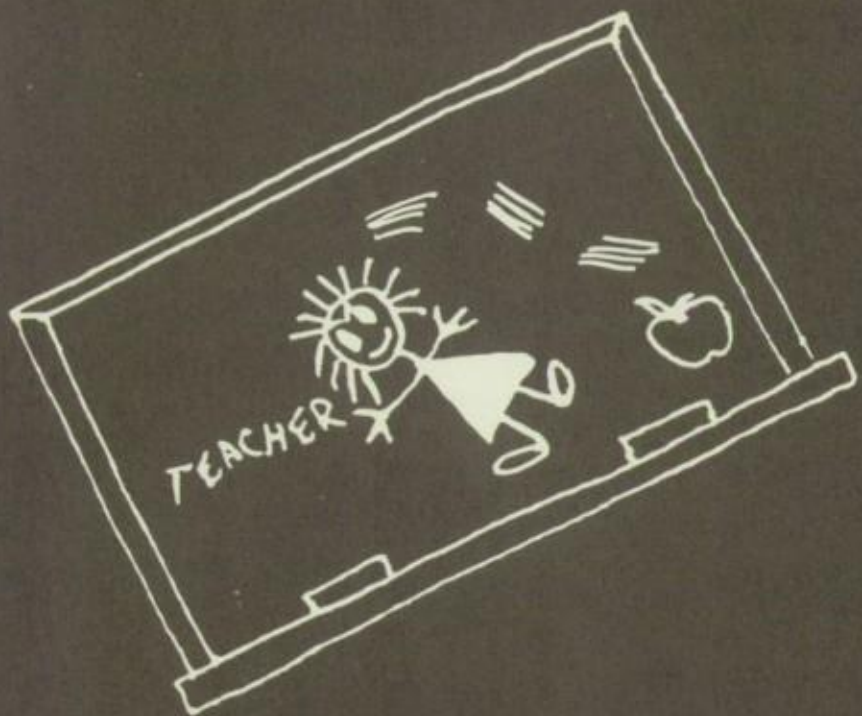

Your graduation from Ridgefield Memorial High School is a great moment in your life and in the lives of your parents. It is also a great moment in the life of your high school. This serious and solemn occasion commits you to duties and relationships which will endure. This is the beginning of a new phase in your life in which you achieve new stature, and dedicate your knowledge, talents and skills to the objectives ahead.

Together and separately as educators, parents and students, we fervently hope that we have all met our responsibilities in able fashion, as students will always remember that life has a deeper and more significant goal than material security and prosperity, despite their importance. That goal is best represented by your full development as an American person in all respects contingent upon those talents and skills with which you have been endowed.

Success and Happiness in the years to come.

English Dept.

In today's Society the need for a superior background in English is essential, if one wishes to go any place.

Heading Ridgefield's fine English department is Mrs. Emma Farrell, who skillfully prepares her fourth year English classes for the modern world.

Mrs. Farrell is known schoolwide for her "dot system" and surprise quizzes.

Mrs. Beverly Jones is the fascinating eleventh grade teacher. Her effervescent imagination and contemporary outlook on American literature keeps her students spellbound.

Mrs. Candace Redstone provides a very interesting course and also doubles as a speech teacher.

The study of English literature is very capably handled by Miss Lilyan Zaccharia, who is new to the department.

Mr. Terence Murphy agilely handles the tenth grade curriculum. Studies range from Greek mythology to Julius Caesar. Mr. Murphy is well-known for his asides and quick trivia.

Mr. Eugene Byrne teaches students from the vital freshman year. He prepares them for the composition of their later years and introduces them to all phases of literature.

Miss Teresa Florio teaches English and doubles as a Spanish teacher.

MRS. VIVIAN

MR. TERENCE MURPHY

MISS LILYAN ZACCHARIA

Math Dept.

After all the graphing projects, Trig tests, notebooks, differential equations, and the Pythagorean proof, there is one conclusion that each of us can reach. That is that math is a pyramiding, precise science.

For this reason, we will never forget our first days in Mr. Philip Lockitt's Algebra I, when, exhaustedly we tried to comprehend the complex terminology of simple Algebra.

We survived Mr. Lockitt's 2 problem tests only to graduate to Mr. Harvey Weiss' "sometimes, always, never true" questions. Those who didn't have Mr. Weiss were awarded Mr. Frank Cole, whose blackboard illustrations left lasting impressions on our minds.

Some wished to pursue further knowledge of Algebra and so went on to Mrs. Marjorie Mouncey's very different Algebra II. It was not uncommon to fail with a 25 or pass with a 95.

Some even went on to Trig and College Math with their logarithms and graphing projects, 2 part tests and analytical proofs.

Nevertheless, we survived, thanking those who made it all possible.

Science Department

Probably unlike any other school in New Jersey, the science department has been very progressive not only in teaching methods but also in activities attempted and materials used. Since the class of 1970 has been in this school, we have seen the growth of Mr. Robert Gumm's greenhouse and expansion of his zoo, the formation of an accredited weather station by Mr. R. Ganger, and the purchase of a radiation machine, the Gammator, for extensive experimentation in all four sections of the department.

Under the watchful eye and skillful hand of Mr. George Leiderman, the department head, the chemistry student, who runs around in black aprons and goggles, has balanced equations, made gases, and realized the importance of chemistry in this ever-changing world.

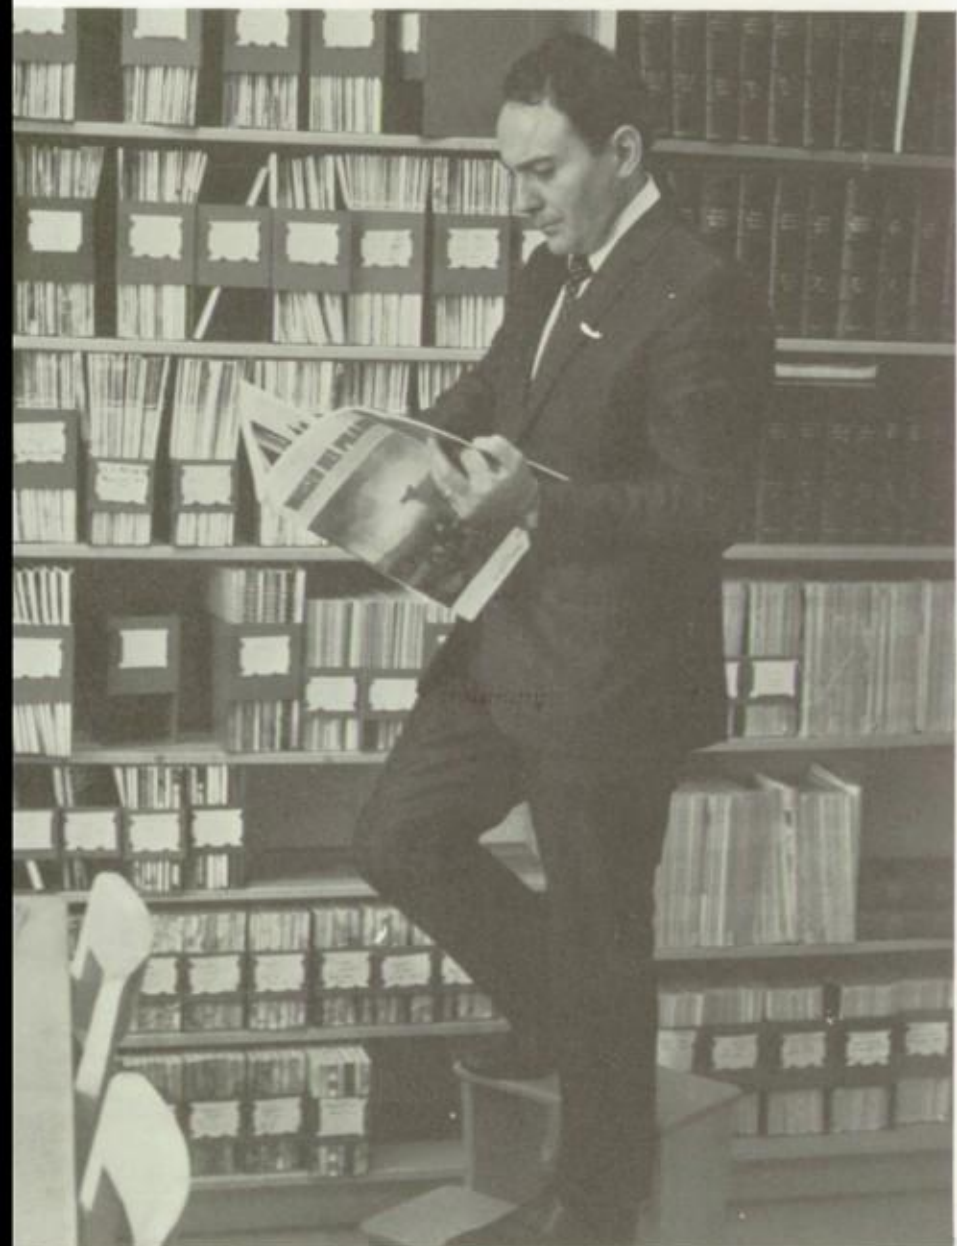

Across the hall from chemistry are the biology rooms where Mr. Gumm patiently assists his students in the dissection of the fetal pig and the proper use of microscopes and the gammator.

Mr. Ralph Ganger and Mr. John Stack attend to the General Science. They generally explore the fields of geology, botany, zoology, chemistry, astronomy, and physics.

Mr. Peter Bydlik and Mr. Michael Sullivan are new to the department this year, taking over as the physics instructors. Of course they haven't brought about any remarkable feats yet, but give them time.

It is only through diligent effort and patience that a person learns to speak another language. However, it was with a little prodding by RMHS's four language teachers that many of us did learn our second language.

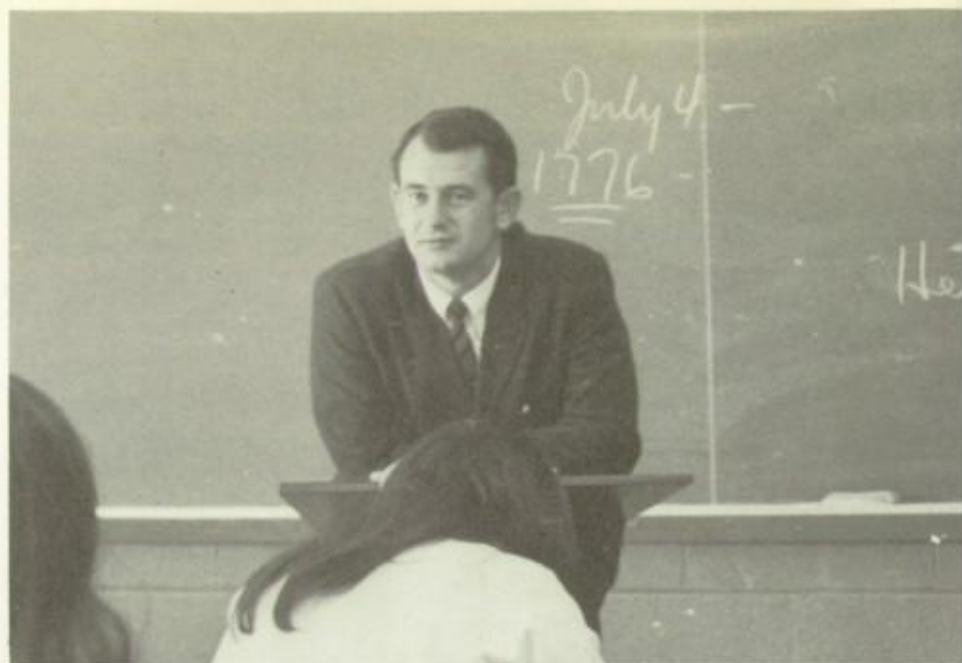

By first learning the grammar, and then by becoming more proficient in translation, we were able to emerge with new ideas from an ancient passage of Latin, or, perhaps, an old idea from a new passage of Spanish or French.

The student who has mastered a language is very fortunate in the benefits he receives. Not only has he strengthened mental acuity, but he has also developed self-discipline, an acuteness of idea, a logic of thought, and sensitivity to the meaning of words.

Mr. Vincent Libero and Mr. Victor Bastek, ably man the Spanish Department while Mr. John Hesson takes care of French. Mr. Joseph Brezina takes the Latin classes and also doubles as a Creative Writing teacher. Miss Teresa Florio has English and Spanish classes.

History Department

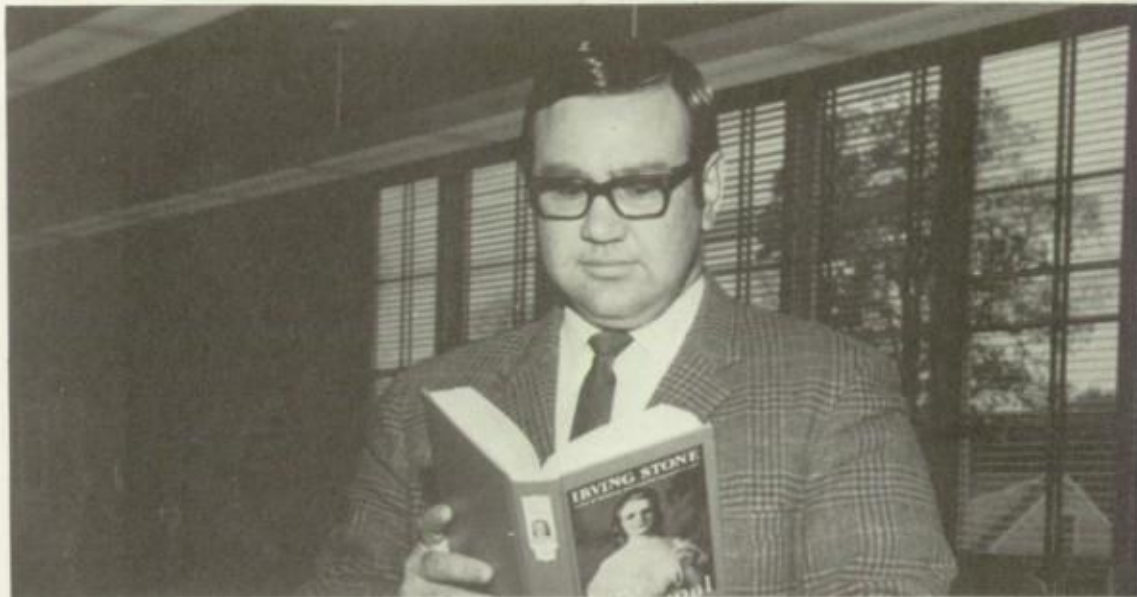

"If you don't know your history, you are doomed to live it over again," quotes Mr. Albert Kornblit, head of the history department. The importance of history in today's world is very obvious to the four members of the history department. Besides Mr. Albert Kornblit, Mr. Richard Gable, Mr. Michael Strangia, and Mr. Fred Calabrese, all strive to bring high school students on the verge of things much bigger than their high school boundaries. Daily quizzes and discussions of modern day problems make room for student development of ideas.

Business Department

Practical experience for those who do not intend to go to college, or for those who wish to become business teachers is supplied by Mrs. Florence Feldman and her Business staff, Miss Madeline Terra, Miss Kathleen O'Toole and Mrs. Evelyn Giannantonio. In this department the girls are taught to use modern pieces of equipment such as calculators, duplicators, and dictaphones, as well as various other skills, such as steno and bookkeeping.

The Arts Department is a combination of all those subjects which involve adroitness of the hands to creativity of the mind.

The department includes Mrs. Rosalyn Fernhoff and Mrs. Olivia Minervino, who teach home economics; Mr. Anthony Vassallo, teaching art; and, Mr. Edwin Jaworski and Mr. Peter Varga, who teach shop. Mr. James Conroy heads the mechanical drawing classes.

Training is in the domestic arts and building field, with projects ranging from zodiac posters to blueberry muffins.

At Christmas and in the spring, the supreme efforts of the Band and Chorus are brought to a climax. After many hours of rehearsals, 7:30 AM practices, late rehearsals until 4:00 PM, these musical groups are ready to present their work to the public.

However, despite all the work involved, these activities are the most popular in the school—simply because of the dedicated efforts of Mr. William Tomka, band Director and Mrs. Gertrude Silver, chorus director.

MR. JOSEPH COSTELLO

Phys. Ed. Dept.

Perhaps the period that most everyone looks forward to is "fiz-ed." class.

Unlike the routine notetaking of other subjects, physical education is a combination of fun and games with good exercise to make for healthful play.

Boys' gym classes serve not only athletes but the others as well. Mr. Dominick Milone and Joseph Costello try to prepare some boys for sports, and also keep the others interested.

Miss Joyce Tomko and Karen Eckmayer combine various exercises with activities girls like to make "gym" fun.

Guidance Department

Perhaps the most important aspect of high school life rests in the hands of the Guidance Department. Mrs. Adrienne Dorian and Mr. Salvatore Grasso are the people to whom we owe the course of our high school studies. Assisted by Mrs. Grace Avery, the two counselors assist more than 660 students each year. If one goes into guidance, whether for some important counseling or just for a College Board application, Mrs. Avery is always ready to assist in any way she can.

The untiring efforts of all three have a profound effect on the benefits which we derive from our high school experience. For seniors, the direction taken after high school whether it be college, secretarial school, vocational school or business, is in their hands. They shape and mold our future in a very definite sense.

Special Personnel

Without the services of these special personnel, many fundamental school operations would not be carried out and, consequently, school would not be open.

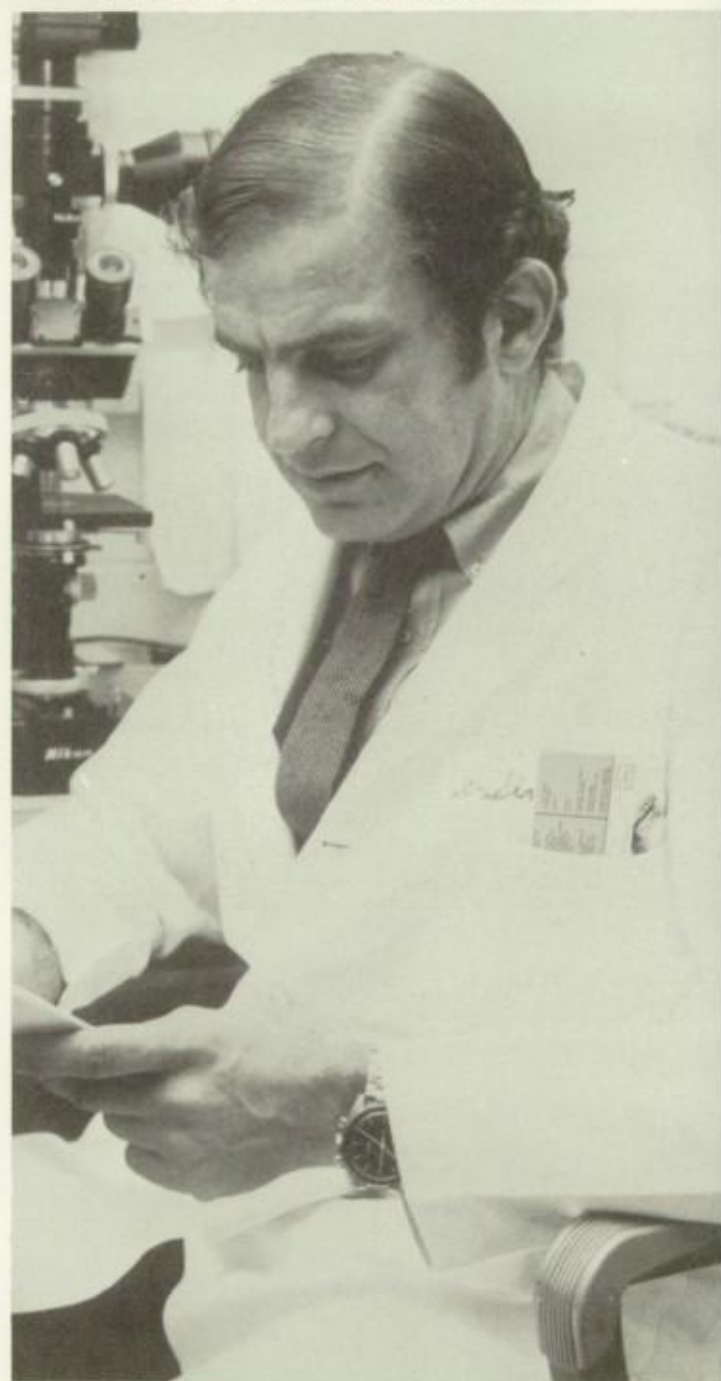

The library is taken care of by Mrs. Gertrude Traynor and Mrs. Dorothea Matthews.

Mrs. Eloise Mason, attends to all health matters.

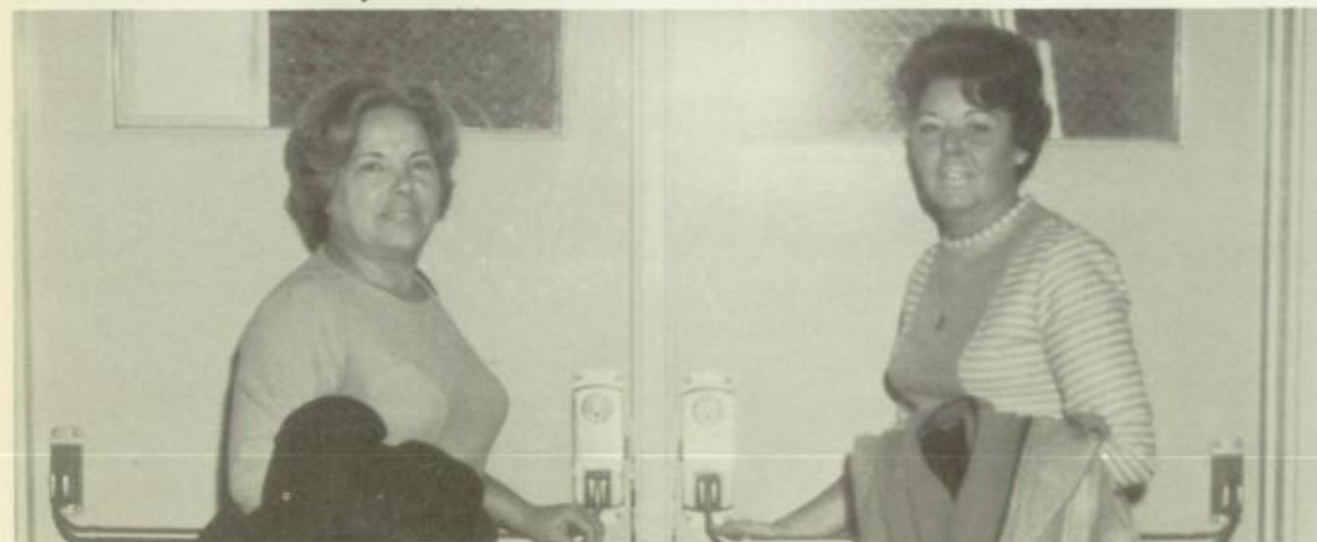

Teacher aides, Mrs. Musso and Mrs. Boyle, supervise the cafeteria during the lunch periods.

Mr. Edward Higgins serves the school in the capacity of School Psychologist.

Direct members of the faculty are Mr. James Fells and Mr. Samuel Cooper who control Remedial Education and Cooperative Industrial Education, respectively.

From the simple things, such as raising pressure in the water fountains, to keeping the massive boiler in working order, Mr. Walter keeps the school looking new and the inside warm especially during the cold winter months. He and his staff perform all the necessary jobs in keeping the school in good physical working order.

Co-operative Industrial Education

Ridgefield has a very important program entitled Co-operative Industrial Education. It is commonly called Work Study. This program involves not only formal education in school but also on the job training in a technical field. By obtaining practical experience before graduation, the student is able to enter the working world as a more skilled person. Those who participate follow not only an academic course but a vocational one. Careful guidance in the selection of a job is given by Mr. Samuel Cooper, the program director. Opportunity and willingness to work are keystones for the success of this program.

Student Organization

The Student Organization of 1970 was well conducted by President Douglas Kalajian under the direction of Mr. George Koch, Vice-Principal. Doug was assisted by Vice President Kurt Resch, Secretary Patricia Pericola, and Treasurer Thomas Nathanson. The S.O. is the governing body of our high school which makes it most important. It plays a role in setting precedent in the high school and has many other duties.

On the slate of the S.O. were the annual Back-to-School Dance, Thanksgiving Drive, Adopt a Needy Person Drive, and annual S.O. trip. The S.O. also undertook such endeavors as the selling of football, basketball, and wrestling booster buttons, and the appointing of a junior chairman to the March of Dimes in Ridgefield. The members of the S.O. partook of a Christmas luncheon, and the officers were entertained at a luncheon along with the class presidents, Principal Mr. Fred Procopio, and Vice-Principal George Koch.

The agenda was full, but the S.O. was successful in making 1970 a useful and productive school year.

The Crown

Undoubtedly, The Crown is one of the most important activities that this school has since it reflects the ideas and opinions of the entire Student Body. The newspaper, published 6 to 8 times yearly, requires much valuable time and concerted efforts for its publication. However the warm reception, self-gratification, and Columbia Press first places are remuneration for a job well done.

Linda puts up the newspapers.

Mrs. Traynor, "Pris," and Mrs. Matthews at your service.

Library Council

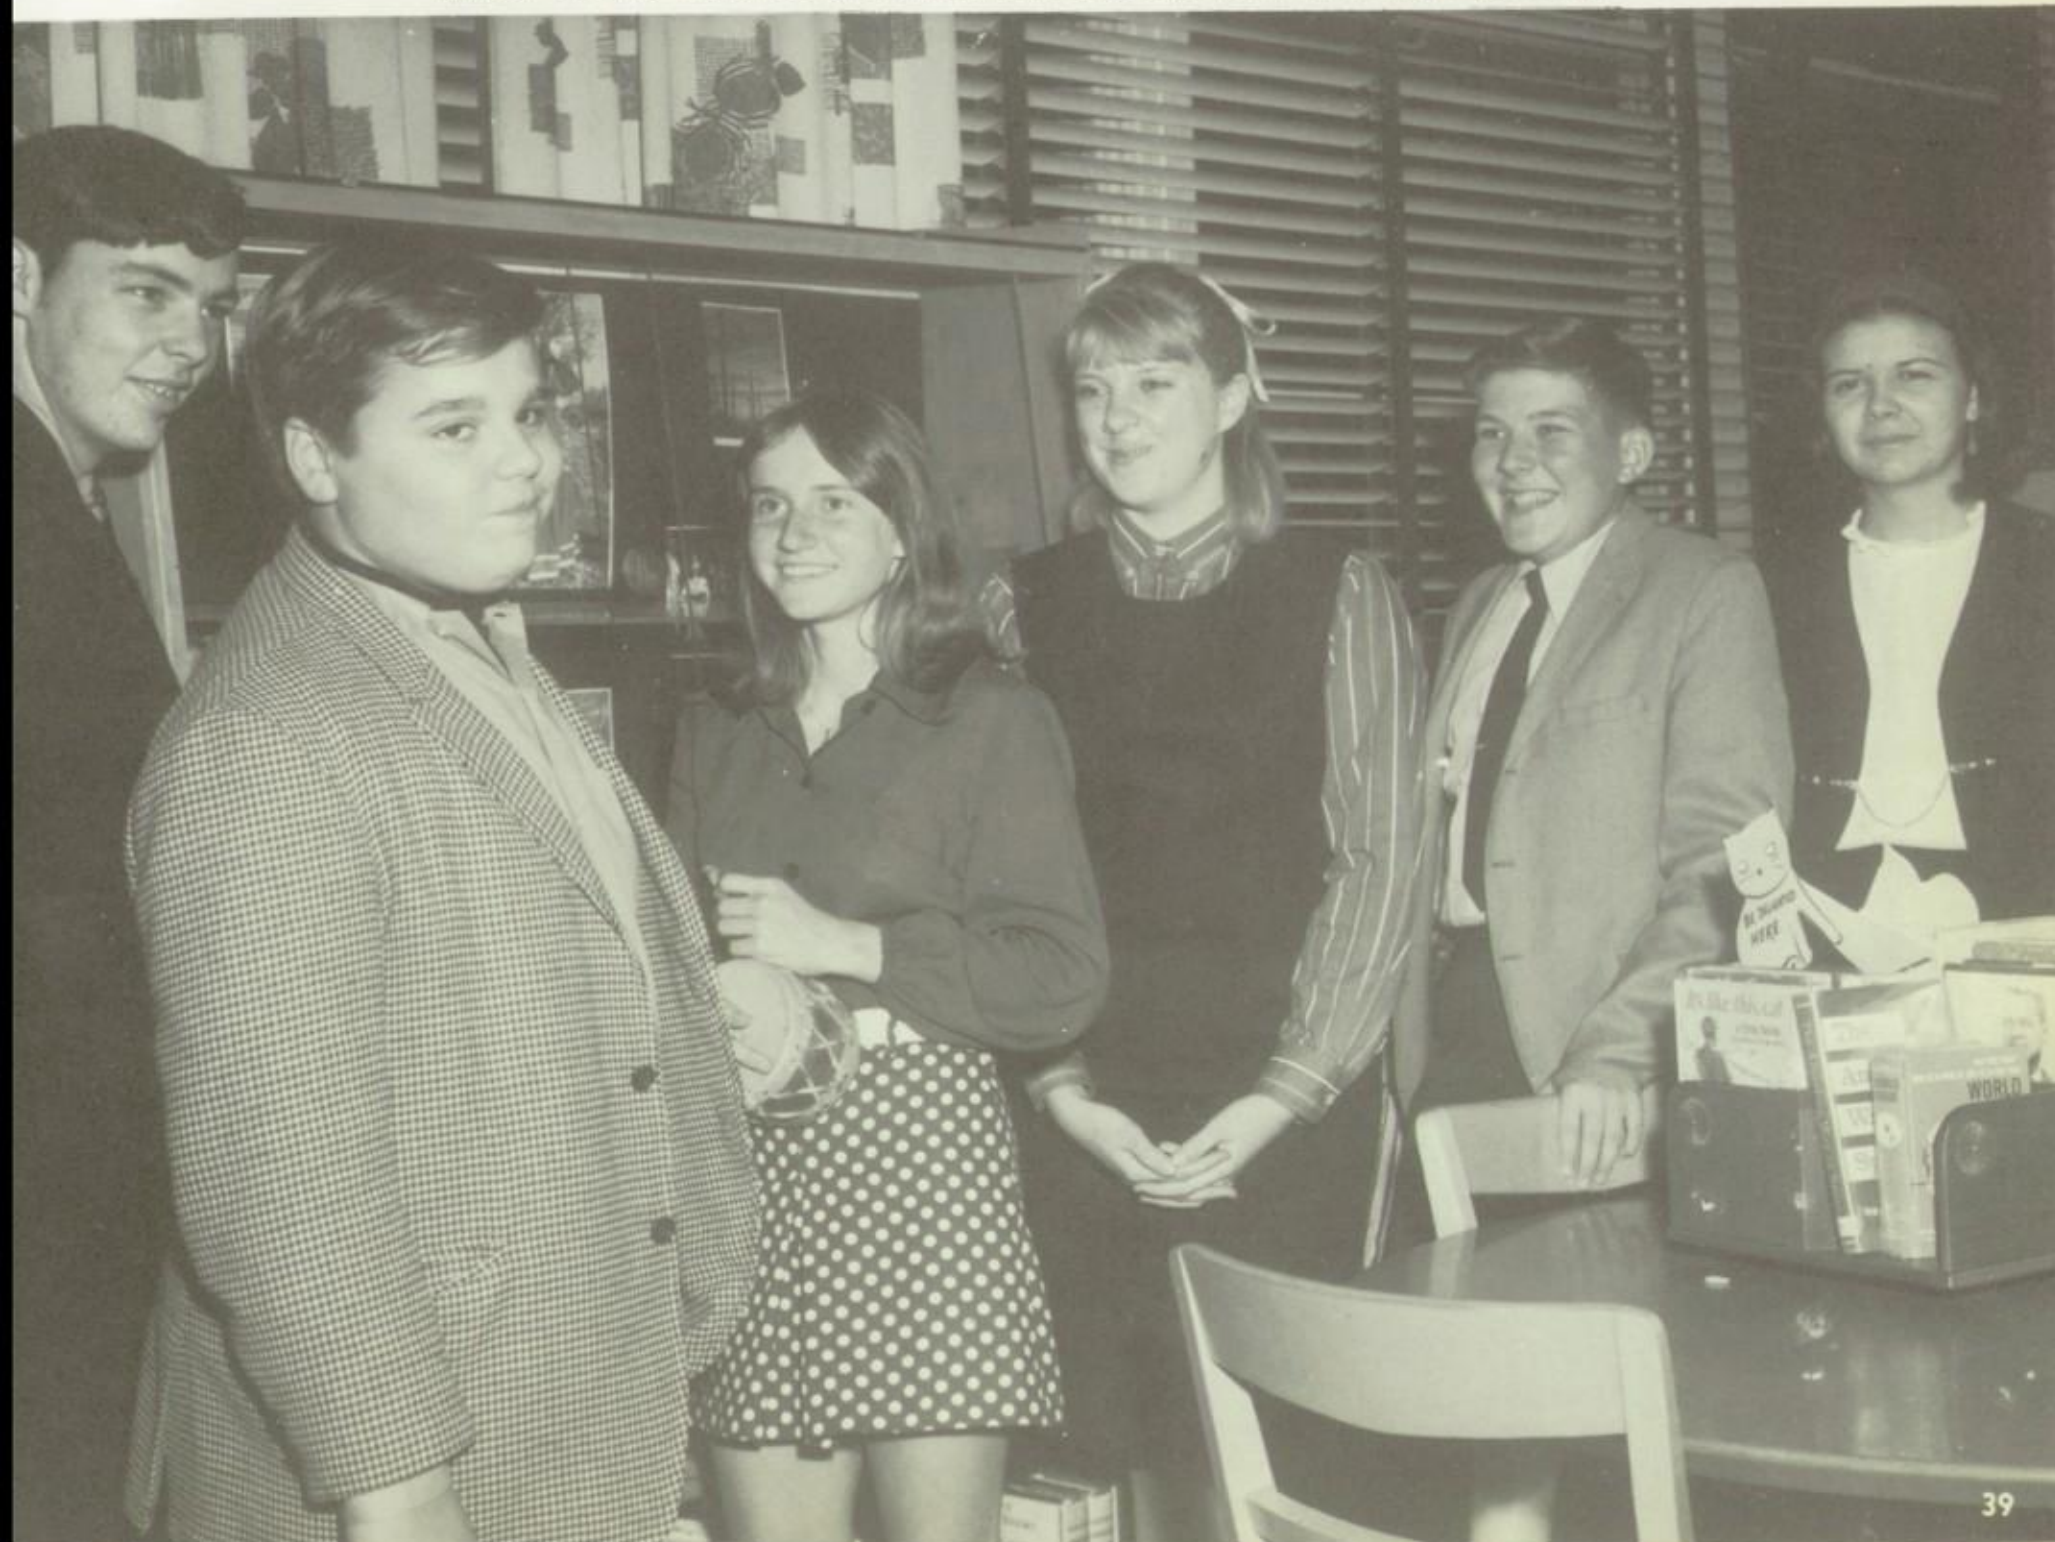

As in the past, you could always get a helping hand in the library from one of the "eager-to-help" council members. Whenever there was an opportunity, these students managed to find that obscure book or help to look up source material.

Emphasis on keeping the school library facilities in working condition is their main goal. Under the guidance of Mrs. Gertrude Traynor and Mrs. Dorothea Matthews, the library council members learned the skills that go along with being library assistants, that is everything from the Dewey Decimal system to shelving books—the simple things that keep our library in the best working order.

Royal Service Club

The Royal Service Club is an organization composed of girls in grades 9 thru 12 who give of their time to serve this school. As the name implies, the main object is to give service of every type. Among the club's undertakings are serving hot chocolate and cookies to basketball players at home games, acting as usherettes at graduation, and guiding visitors about on career day.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Roslyn Fernhoff, club advisor, these charming and dedicated girls perform an outstanding job.

Is there a sledgehammer in the house?

Office Assistants

Under the direction of Mrs. Florence Feldman, the office assistants are a group of interested students who wish not only to help the secretaries themselves but also to gain more experience in the operation of office equipment and skill in office procedure.

The girls have simple tasks of sorting mail and operating the switchboard, and daredevil duties of fighting the mimeograph machine. They often deliver attendance sheets and perform other clerical work in the main office.

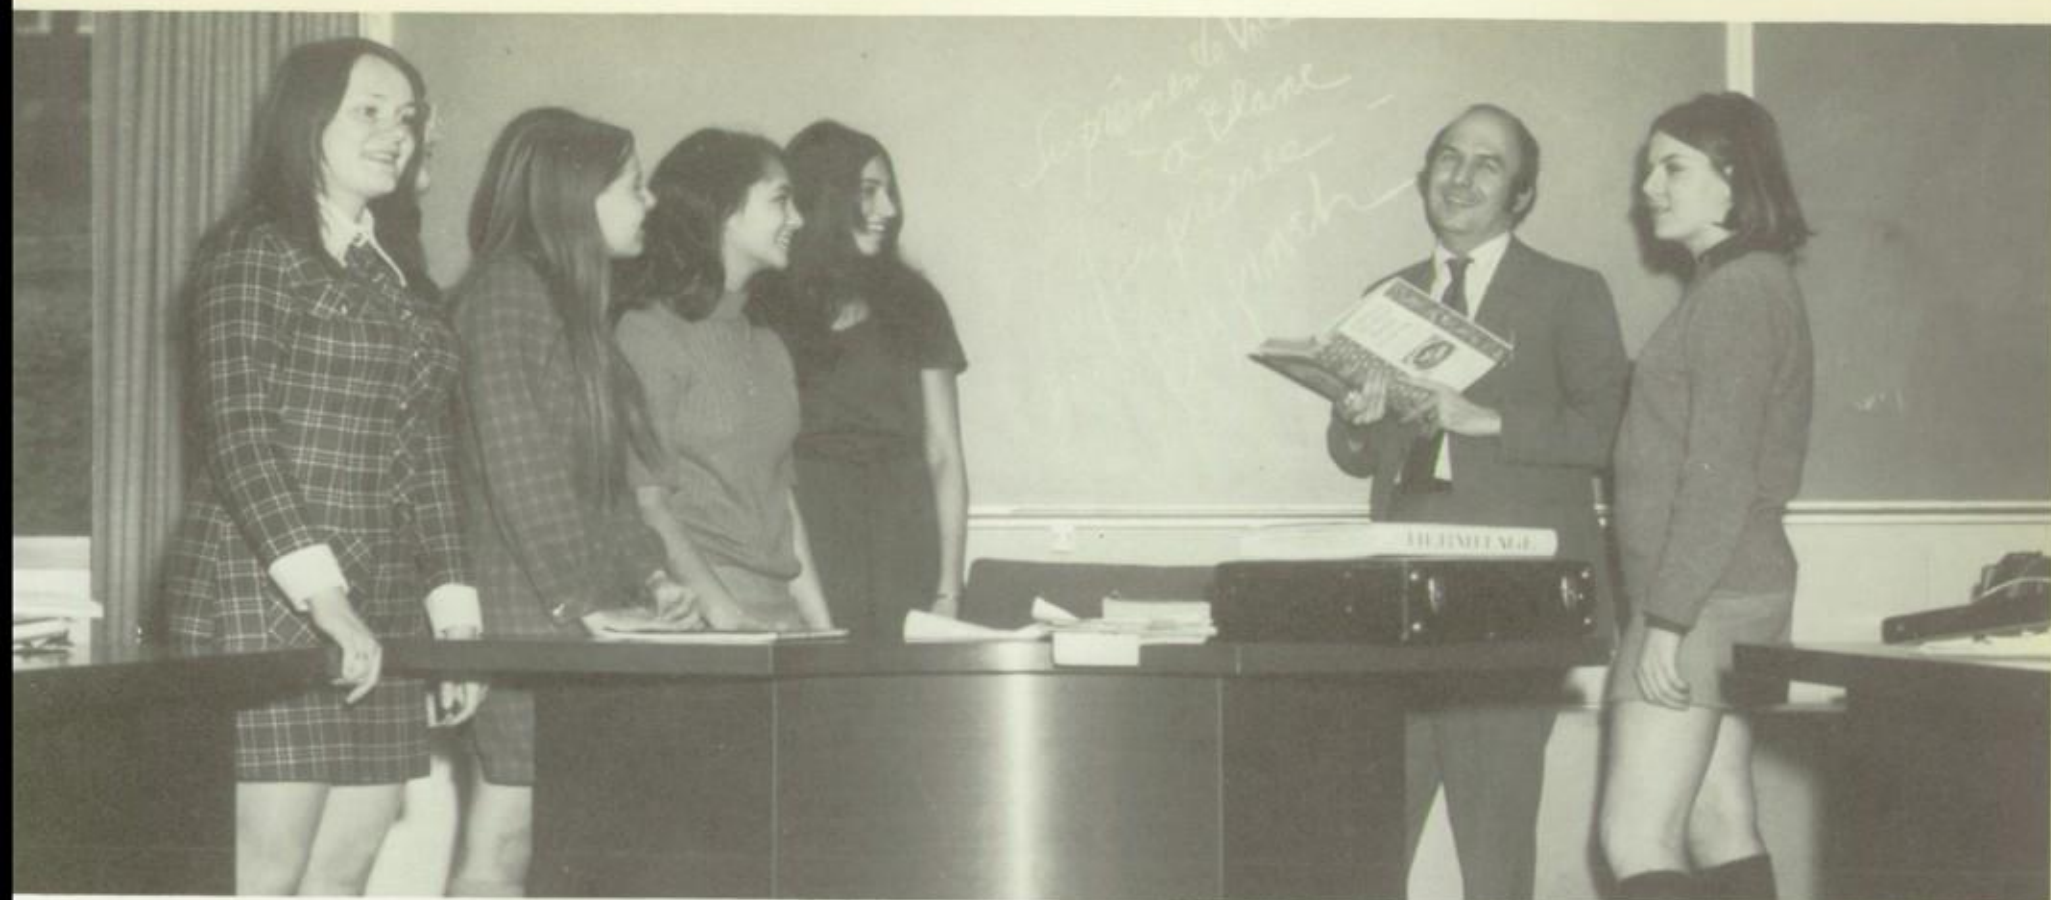

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club, because it is one of the school's most popular activities, was divided into two clubs for the '69-'70 school year. Mr. Vincent Libero was advisor to the third and fourth year students' club. The club strives to teach some Spanish culture. A field trip was taken to see The Royal Hunt of the Sun, a movie about Mexico.

The first and second year Spanish students also share in the activities of a Spanish Club, under the auspices of Mr. Victor Bastek. Mr. Bastek and his members studied various aspects of the Spanish culture.

The French Club

The French Club is an off-shoot of the classroom situation. It is sponsored by Mr. John Hesson. The club has a large following of people who are interested in learning more about conversational French and French culture.

Playacting?

The Dramatic Society

Miss Lilyan Zaccarria, new to Ridgefield Memorial High School, brought some fresh new ideas to the Dramatic Society. Under Miss Zaccarria's watchful eye, the Dramatics Society performed a first in the club's history. With the help of Mrs. Olivia Minervino (Miss Ottone), the Home Economics teacher, a class in theatrical makeup was instituted. Among other activities, the club sponsored a trip to view a Broadway play production. Guest speakers were also on the agenda as was an organized program of student performances. The Dramatic Society plays an integral part in the training of underclassmen for their future encounters with the Senior play.

Leading the Society in this year's activities was President Judy Korolewicz.

Miss Zaccaria and the officers.

John wants to be a teacher, too.

Future Teachers of America

The 1970 F.T.A., sponsored by Mrs. Candace Redstone, tried some new endeavors this year. Some of the highlights of the F.T.A. program were the trip to a state teachers college, guest speakers, and experiences in modern education. The year was started by the annual tea and installation of officers. The club was ably led by President Linda Brite, who was aided by Vice-President Karen Watson, Secretary Judy Korolewicz, Treasurer Maryanne Barrett, and Historian Janis Mauro.

Future Nurses' Club

The industrious project for this year's Future Nurses Club was red and green expansion toys. Under the supervision of the school nurse, Mrs. Eloise Mason, and headed by Donna Calza, president, Michele Borelli, Vice-president—Secretary and Gail Turso, treasurer, the club worked diligently throughout the pre-Christmas season.

These gifts were delivered while the girls were carolling for children in the Pediatrics Ward of Englewood Hospital. Evidence of this large undertaking still remains today in the form of the red and green paint on the nurse's floor!

Another trip this year was to the Conklin's Children Home. Throughout the year there were speakers from the Armed Services and Columbia Presbyterian Hospital. Cookie sales were the basic means to raise funds for all trips and charitable works.

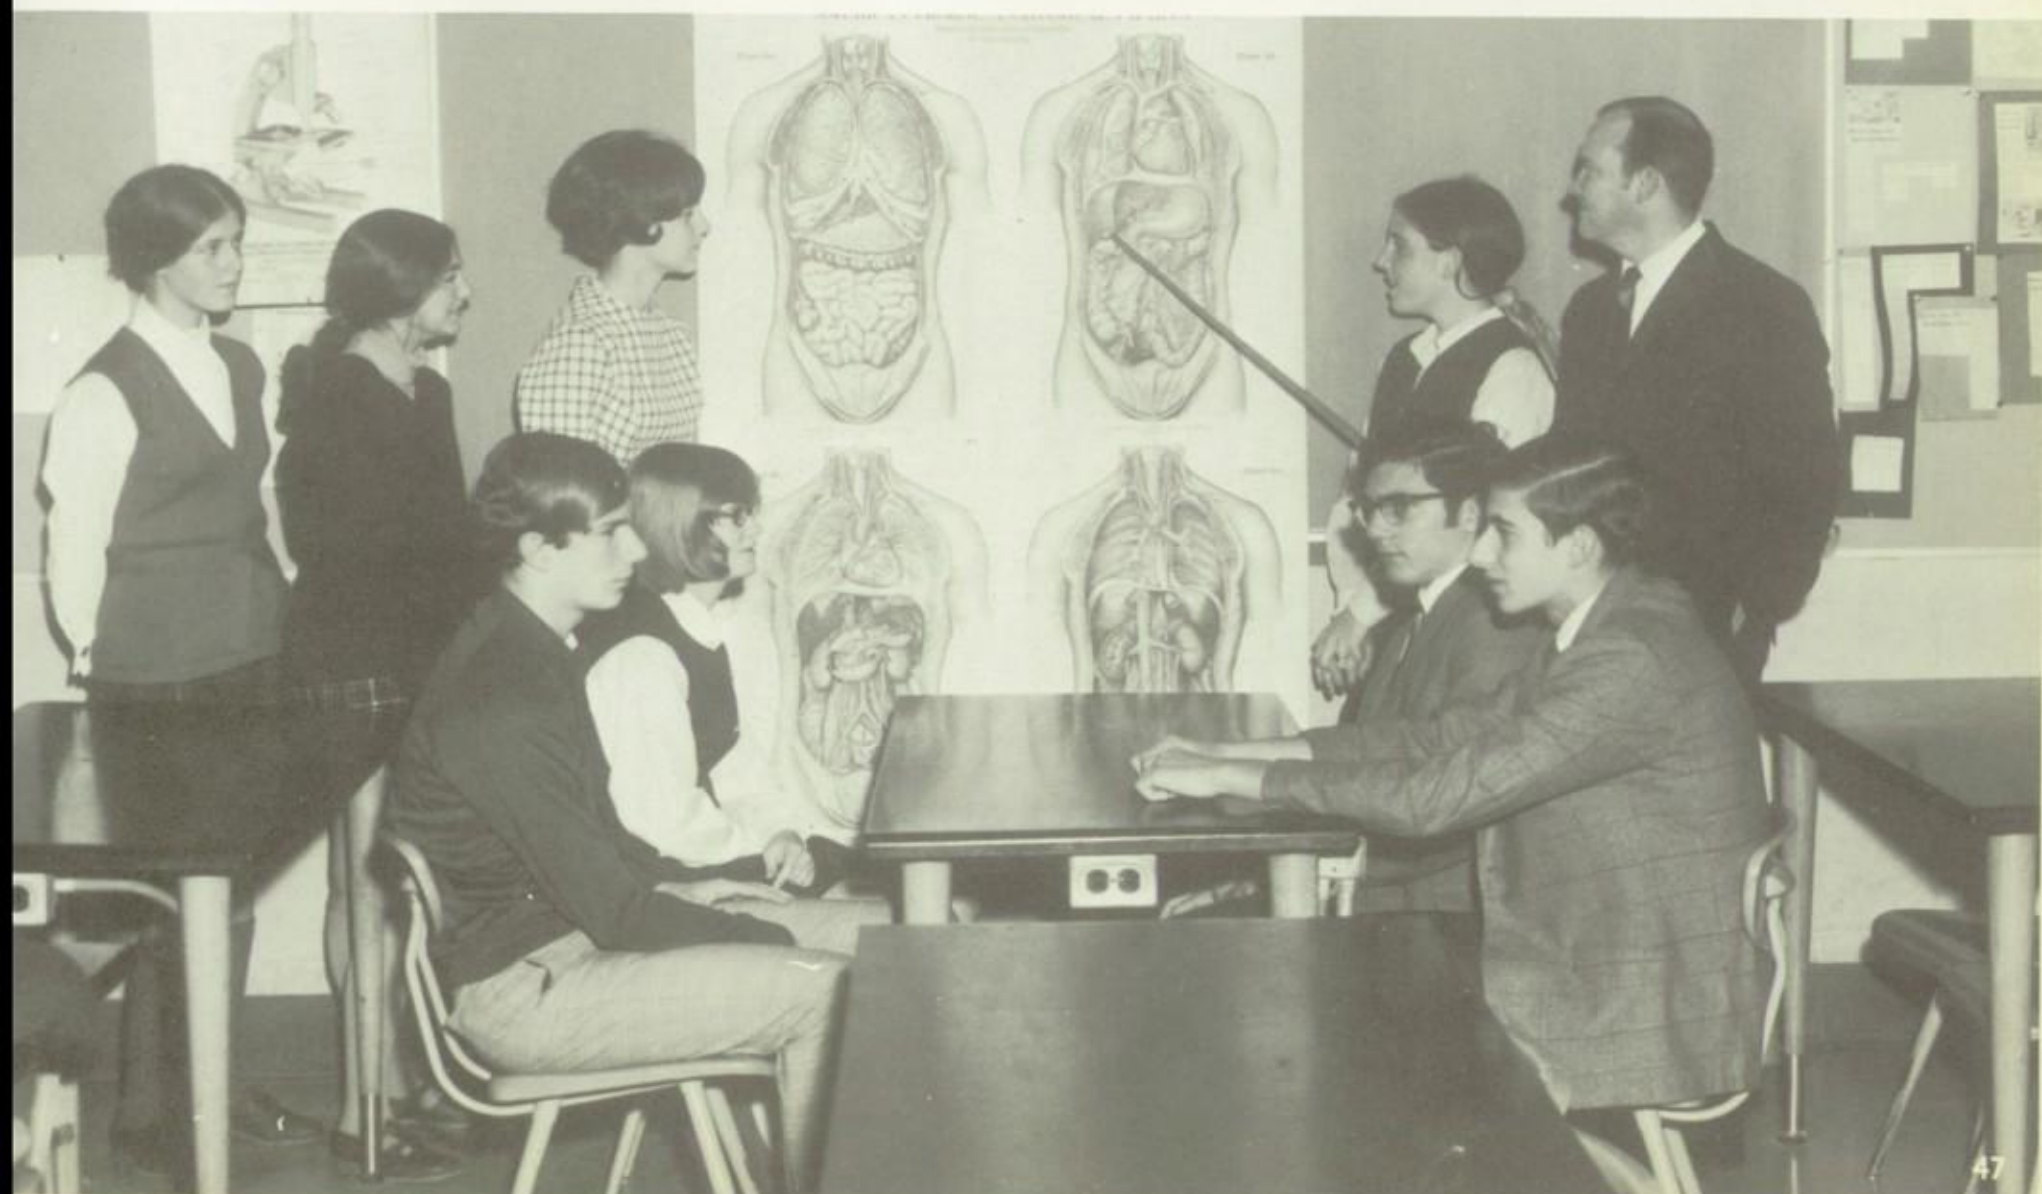

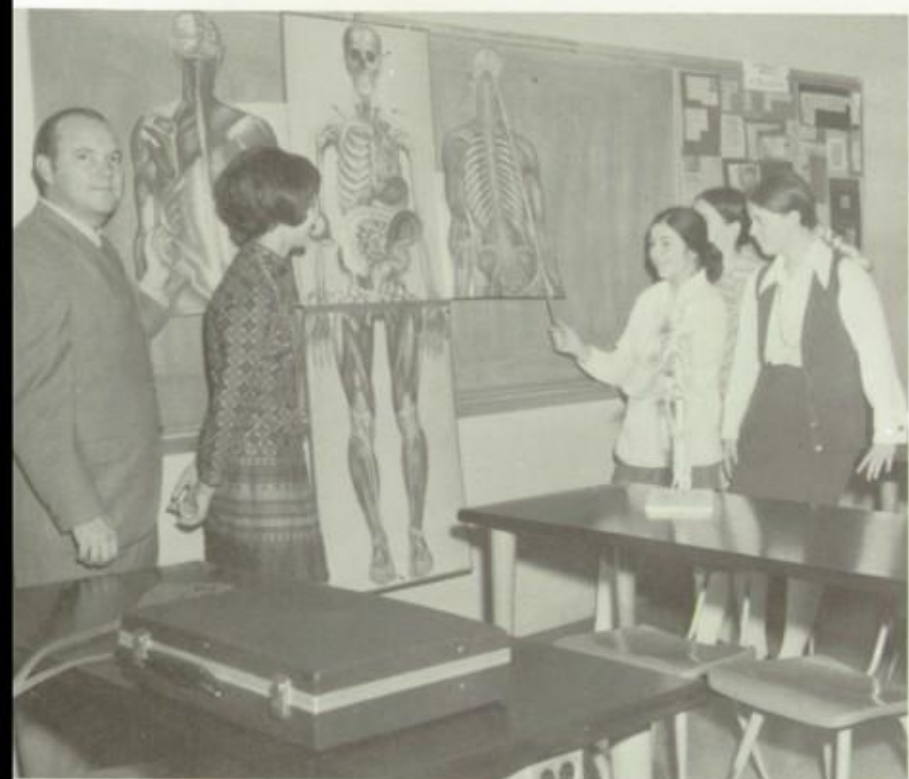

Future Physicians

The Future Physicians' Club is an organization for those individuals who are considering a medical profession after high school.

The club affords these people an opportunity to get a greater insight into medicine in all of its various forms.

The club's agenda included guest speakers, movies, slides, and discussions. Mr. Robert Gumm sponsors this springboard to medicine.

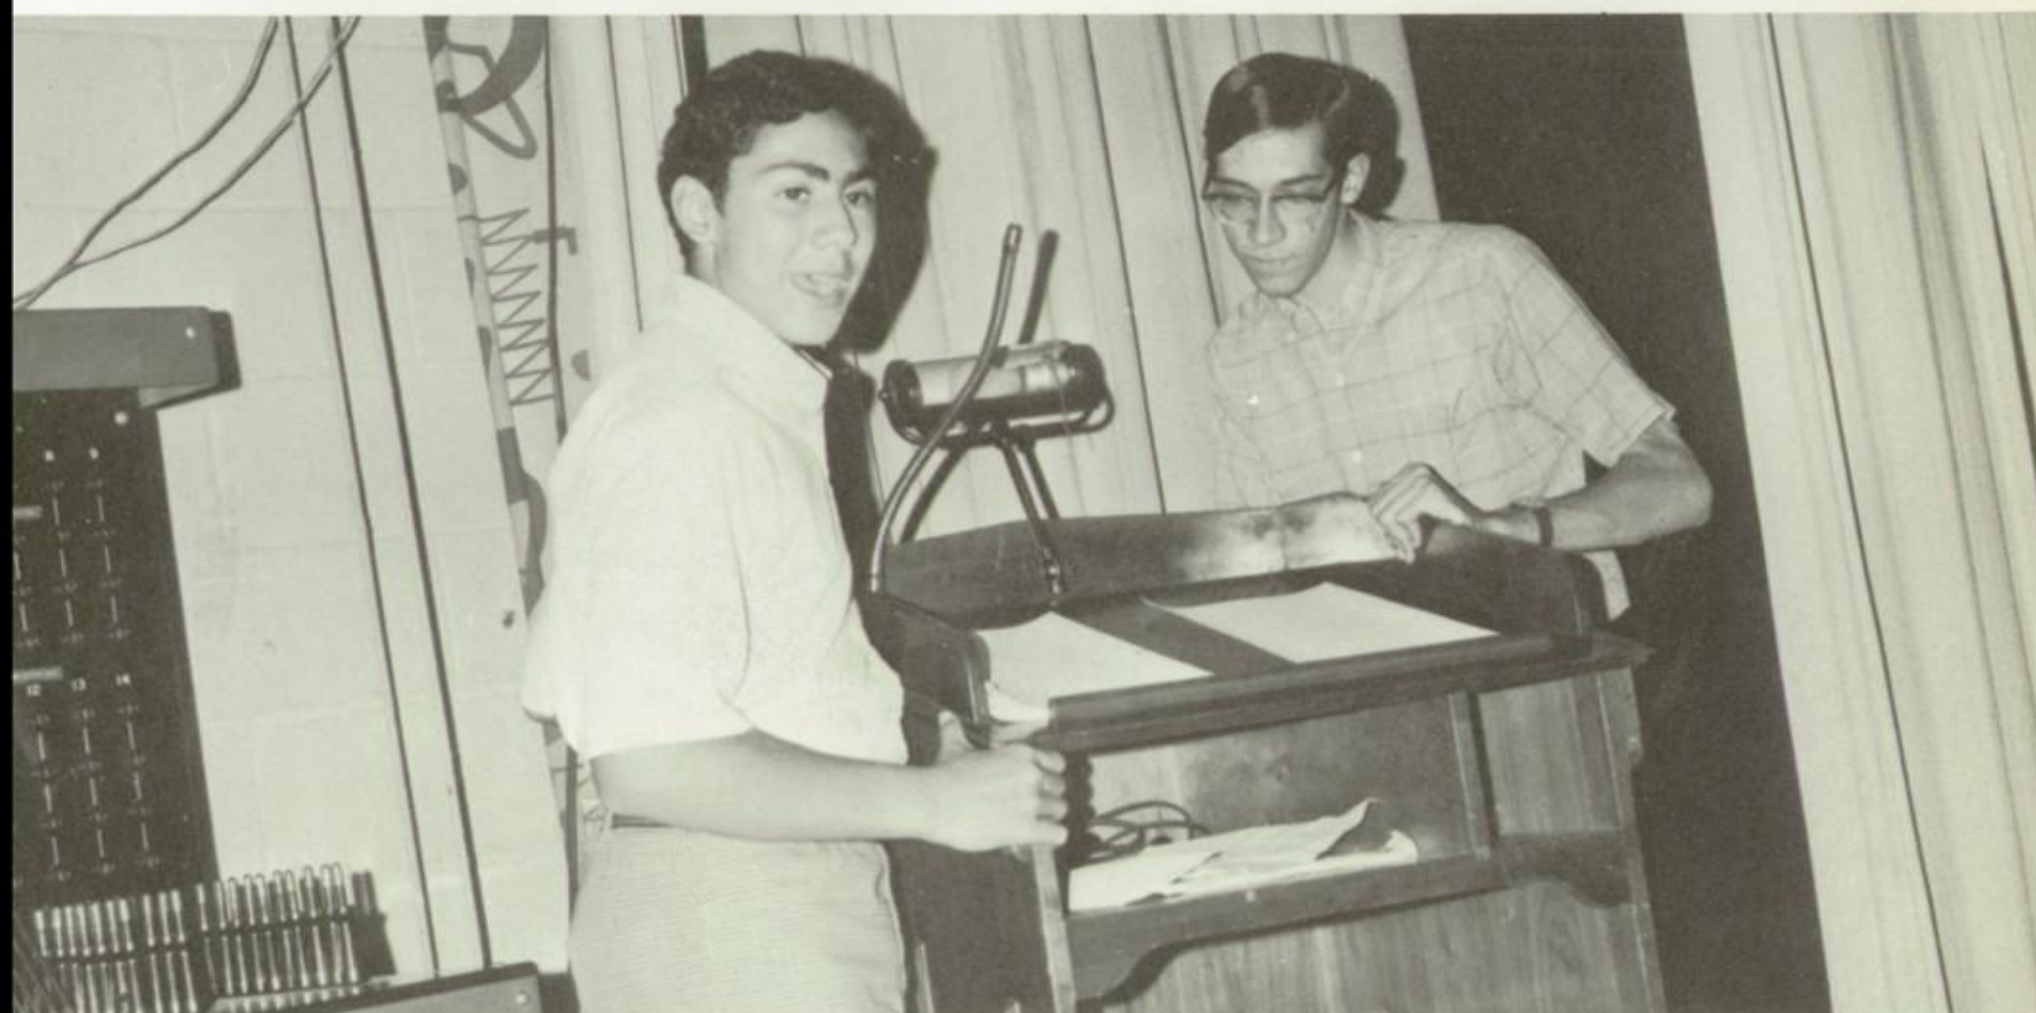

Art Club

The Art Club is a combination of talented students as well as those who are interested in art. This active club is constantly making decoration and posters for the different seasons of the year.

Their projects have included zodiac posters, Christmas decorations for all parts of the school, and various other holiday and non-holiday sketches, drawings, paintings, and sculptures.

The climax of the club's work and that of the art classes is held each spring when a special show is put on for the art, shop, and mechanical drawing classes.

Mr. Edwin Jaworski and Mr. Peter Varga train the boys to skillfully work with wood, metals and plastics and create finished products with the professional touch.

A.V.A.

All audio and visual equipment such as tape recorders, record players, overhead and opaque projectors, and microphones are all taken care of by the members of the "A.V.A."

The audio-visual aids club also takes care of the lighting at dances, microphones at assemblies, pep rallies, concerts, and other equipment for classroom use.

They are the backstage workers at concerts, the play, and rallies. And even though they are not seen, no one could perform on stage without them. The club is sponsored by Mr. Jaworski.

The Chess Club

The Chess Club is a new endeavor undertaken by Mr. Phillip Lockitt and thirty students. The club is not only for personal enjoyment. It combines the training of the mind in the power of precision thinking with the pleasure of the "game."

Every Tuesday afternoon the members may be found deliberating over their chessboards which they have purchased with their dues. Perhaps, in future years, Ridgefield might see an inter-scholastic chess team come into being. Until then, the chess players are gaining a priceless experience as they develop their minds.

A.I.D.

A new innovation at RMHS this year was AID, the Association for Individual Development, led by Mr. Victor Bastek.

This club's main activity was to visit various institutions to collect information on methods of teaching the handicapped. The club got a rousing send off by starting with a membership of 106.

Because of its universal interest and humanitarian aspect, this club should become a regular activity at RMHS.

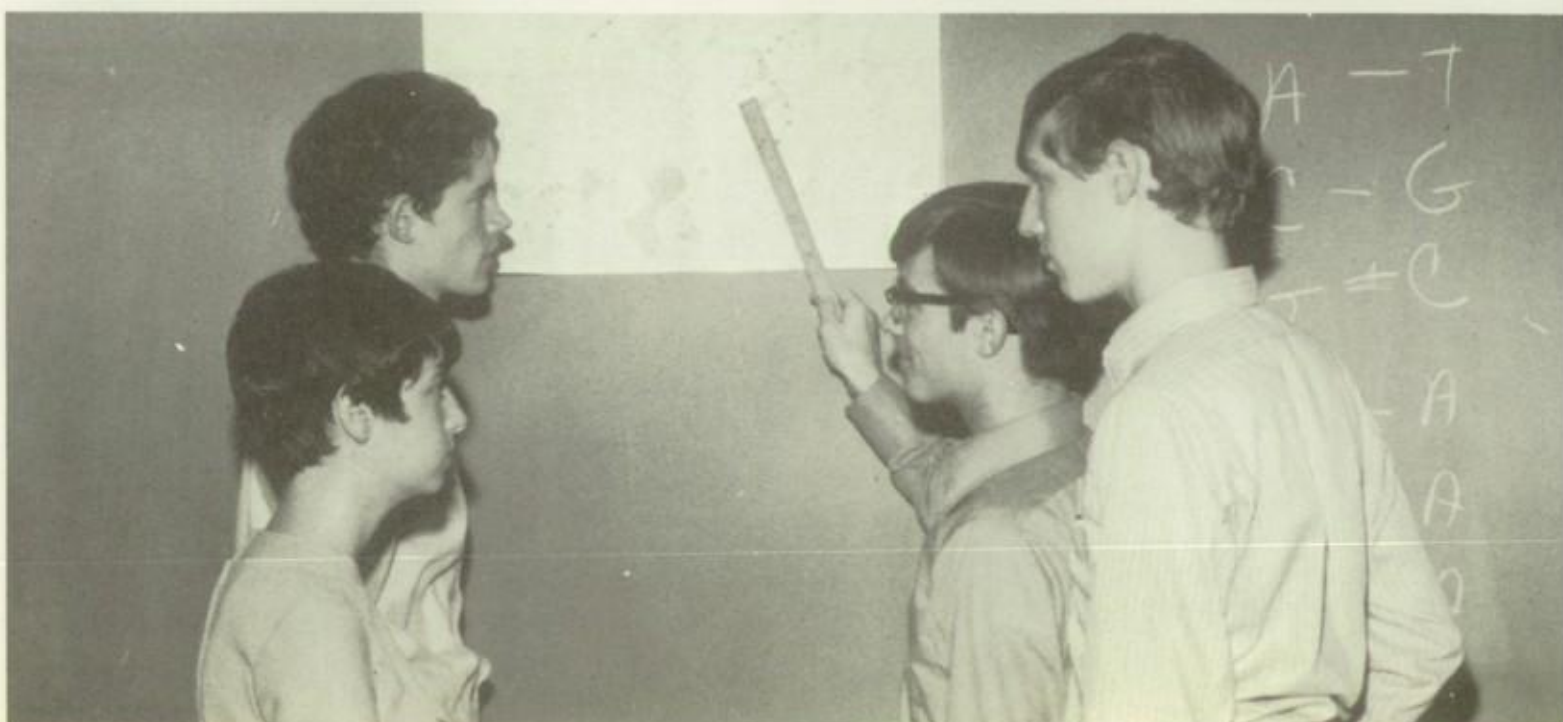

Meteorology Club

The Meteorology Club consisted this year of a group of very early risers. Under the direction of Mr. Ganger, a group of bleary-eyed students learned the semantics of forecasting the weather.

The installation of our own weather station caused the squads of members to be present by 7:30 A.M. to take readings which were then phoned to radio station WOR. This was a totally new innovation to RMHS.

The success of this club can be attributed to the fascination and devotion of the students who attended this extra-curricular activity.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is not an open membership organization. Rather, it is a select group of individuals who have demonstrated themselves to be outstanding in character, leadership, scholarship, and service.

Chosen by a committee of faculty members, the Honor Society is very special in its nature. Membership reflects a devotion to scholarship as well as enthusiasm for extra-curricular activities.

This year, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Adrian Dorian and the able leadership of Jimmy Klein, Rosemary O'Brien, Jeanne Nietzsche, and Jack Wind, this group undertook one of the most successful tutoring programs this school has ever seen.

Girls' Choir

Especially selected from the mixed chorus, the Girls' Choir is an extra-curricular activity for those girls who enjoy singing.

The girls perform in the Spring and at Christmas time. All the music which they learn is a combination of Mrs. Gertrude Silver's suggestions and the recommendation of the girls themselves. Their repertoire usually consists of four songs for each year.

Just before concert time, the rehearsals are three to four times a week after school.

The girls are all dedicated. Each year their concerts prove this.

Pete Fife holds Nina Savelli's collar.

Men's Chorus

The men's chorus, like the girls choir, is an extra-curricular activity involving early morning rehearsals, "flat" Mondays, and excellent concerts.

Composed of a small nucleus of bases and tenors from the Mixed Chorus, the a cappella group sings several exquisite pieces each year at the various choral concerts.

On the days when the girls aren't in for practice or there isn't any choral coaching, the men can usually be seen singing with quality and tonality, thanks to Mrs. Gertrude Silver, their director.

Mixed Chorus

The Altos.

The sopranos.

The tenors.

The chorus consists of students in grades 9 through 12 who have a love for music and who enjoy singing a wide variety of songs, popular to classic. Under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Silver, students are also able to broaden their musical interests through various field trips. This year there was a trip to Montclair State College. There the members of the Chorus were able to see a collegiate Music Department in full swing. The members took part in actual choral and instrumental classes.

The high points of the year, as always, were the Christmas and the Spring Concerts. These were presented after many weeks of determined practice in school. Without a doubt, the last concerts were impeccable.

Some exceptional students, after excellent coaching by Mrs. Silver, made County and State Chorus. This is truly an honor and a distinction for our school.

The Band

Mr. William Tomka has again led the Ridgefield High School Band to great musical success. As in past years, our forty member band has marched in rain, sleet, snow, and occasionally—sunshine. They overcame such difficulties as the plume crisis to come out with a successful year. They provided the spectators with memorable half-time performances at all of our football games.

But there is another phase to Mr. Tomka's band. The concert band provided us with a Christmas Concert and a Spring Concert, both of which have become traditional to Ridgefield. An offshoot of the Concert band is the Dance band, a talented group of male band members.

This year's band has followed a long tradition of talented and dedicated musicians.

The Epilogue

The Epilogue is the official diary of the school year compiled generally for senior enjoyment. It collects memories, experiences, and ideas which are collected into a lifelong, lasting memory book.

The staff is composed of a mass of undaunted, hard-working seniors who are willing to remain in school until the Huntley-Brinkley hour and sometimes beyond.

The staff consists of the Co-editors-in-chief John Bialkowski and Rosemary O'Brien, assistant literary and layout editors, a business staff, home-room collectors and a business manager, Diane Becker.

It was not easy to budget time between Mrs. Farrell and the book. However, somehow we managed to survive the ordeal and come out on top.

SENIOR PLAY

"The Curious Savage"

From the opening scenes when Mrs. Savage hides a fortune in negotiable bonds in a teddy bear to Fairy Mae's, "There's a fire in the bathtub," the silence in the auditorium was only broken by the hysterical dialogue of the characters and the hearty laughter of the audience as the Senior Class of 1970 presented The Curious Savage.

The plot revolved around the futile attempts of the three Savage children, Titus, Samuel and Lily Belle, to find the fortune left by the late Mr. Savage. The antics of the inmates, Mrs. Paddy, Fairy Mae, Jeffrey, Florence and Hannibal, consigned to the same "recovery" home as Mrs. Savage, are subdued by Miss Willie and observed by Dr. Emmett, the psychologist.

Mrs. Savage's success in making her children, a senator, a judge, and a New York snobess, appear to be fools kept the audience's sides aching with laughter. The incongruous dialogue of the "inmates" added to the humorous atmosphere as well.

In addition the excellent job done by the Stage Managers, prompters, the costume crew, makeup team and the prop committee, the ushers and usherettes added to reality of the incredulous comedy. The cast should be complimented for the two excellent portrayals given at the full-housed performances.

The Cast

Florence	Teresa Guider
Hannibal	Ronald Weick
Fairy Mae	Andrea Mirabile
Jeffrey	William Wolak
Mrs. Paddy	Christine DeChristofano
Titus Savage	Ronald Siclari
Samuel Savage	Joe Mesiano
Lily Belle Savage	Susan Catherina
Mrs. Savage	Leslie Matthews
Miss Willie	Judy Korolewicz
Dr. Emmett	James King

The play cast and all those students who worked to make the play possible assemble on stage.

"Please, Mrs. Paddy,—I know you hate everything and haven't spoken in twenty years, but please, tell me where you hid the bonds," begs Dr. Emmett. 129

Lily Belle, Titus
and Mrs. Savage fight over Mrs. Savage's teddy bear, the bear that contained the bonds.

Hannibal, Jeffrey,
Fairy Mae, Florence, and Mrs. Paddy listen to the admonitions of Dr.
Emmett.

Hannibal and Mrs. Savage ponder over some stage directions.

Senator Savage demands to know where the bonds are hidden as his sister and brother look on.

"Oh, Hannibal, give me your violin bow; I'll reach you the book, Jeff," Fairy Mae helpfully remarks. Florence looks on in doubt, and Mrs. Paddy, spying from behind her easel, finds the perfect opportunity to turn off the lights.

Miss Zaccharia meets with the costume committee.

Miss Zaccharia goes over some instructions with the stage crew.

Mr. Walter worries about the backstage mess.

Bob Dougherty and Joe Mesiano—in unison—"This the way we paint the set ... paint the set ..."

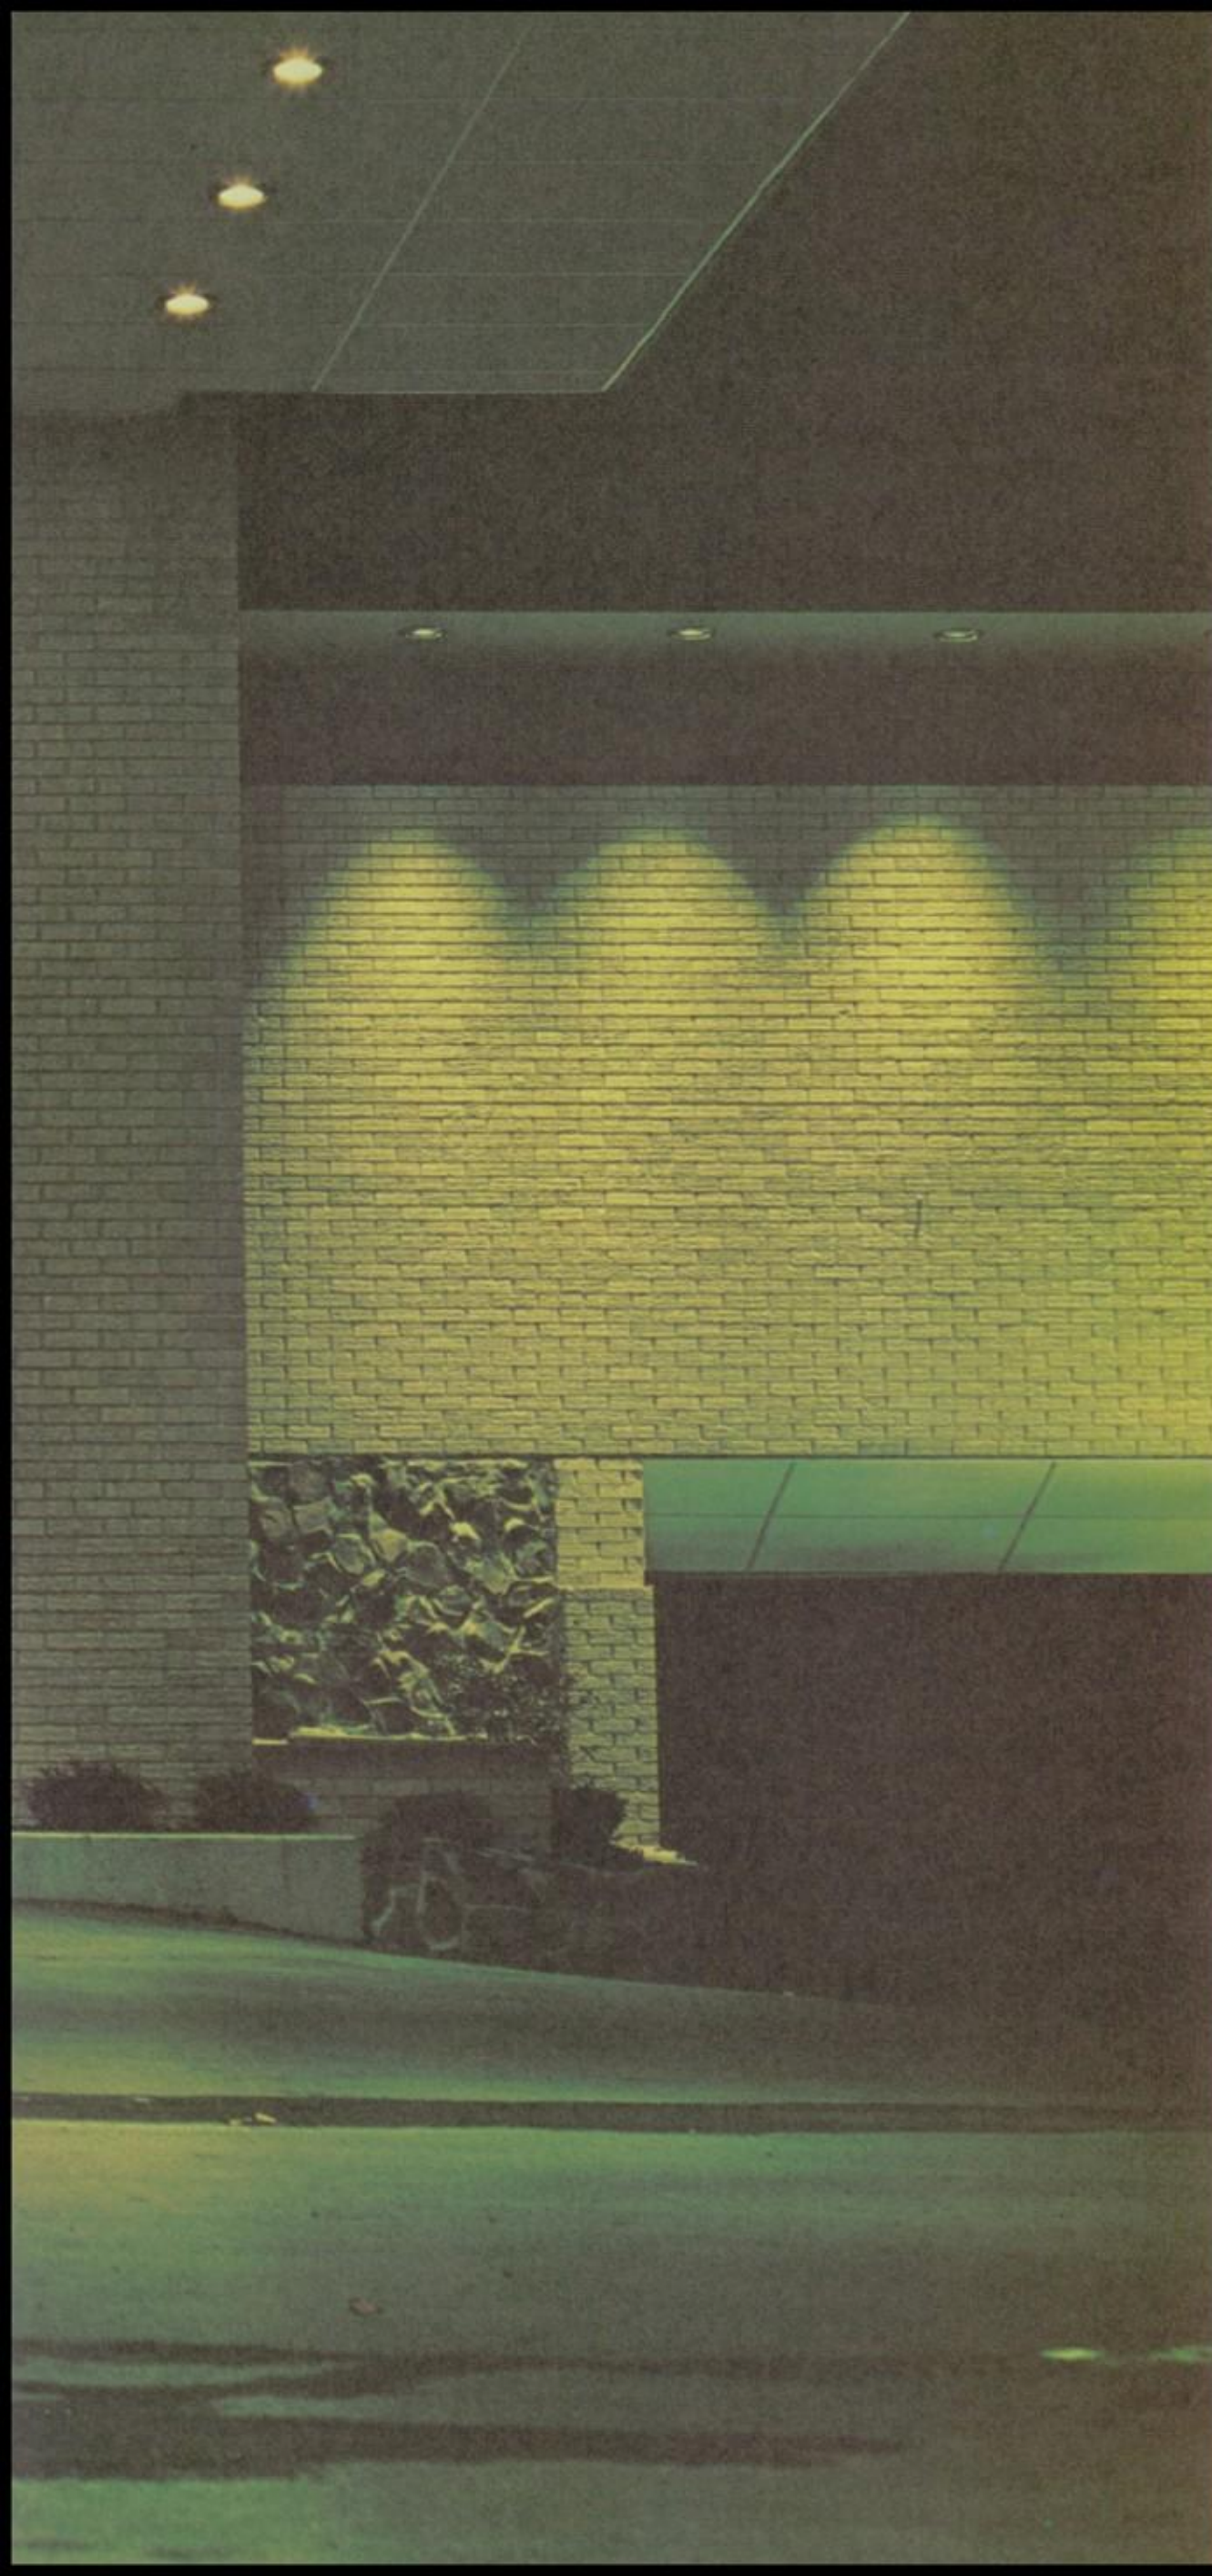

Fairy Mae, Lily Belle, and Florence take their leave ... door and all.

Donna Calza makes-up Leslie Savage ... errr ... 133 Matthews.

Cheerleaders

Here is the other half of the Varsity Cheerleaders . . .

We mustn't forget football games or Teddy.

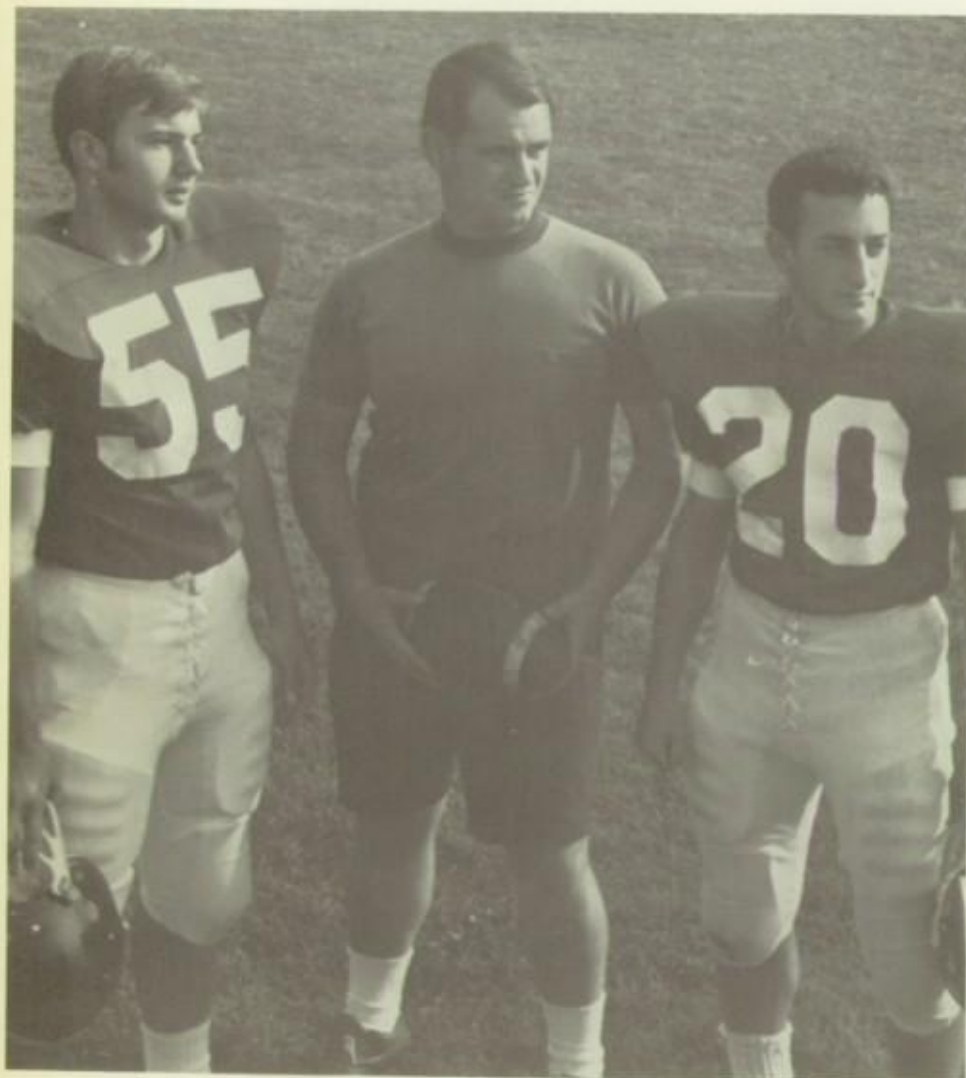

Oh yes, don't forget the JVS.

The Junior Varsity "strikes a careless pose."

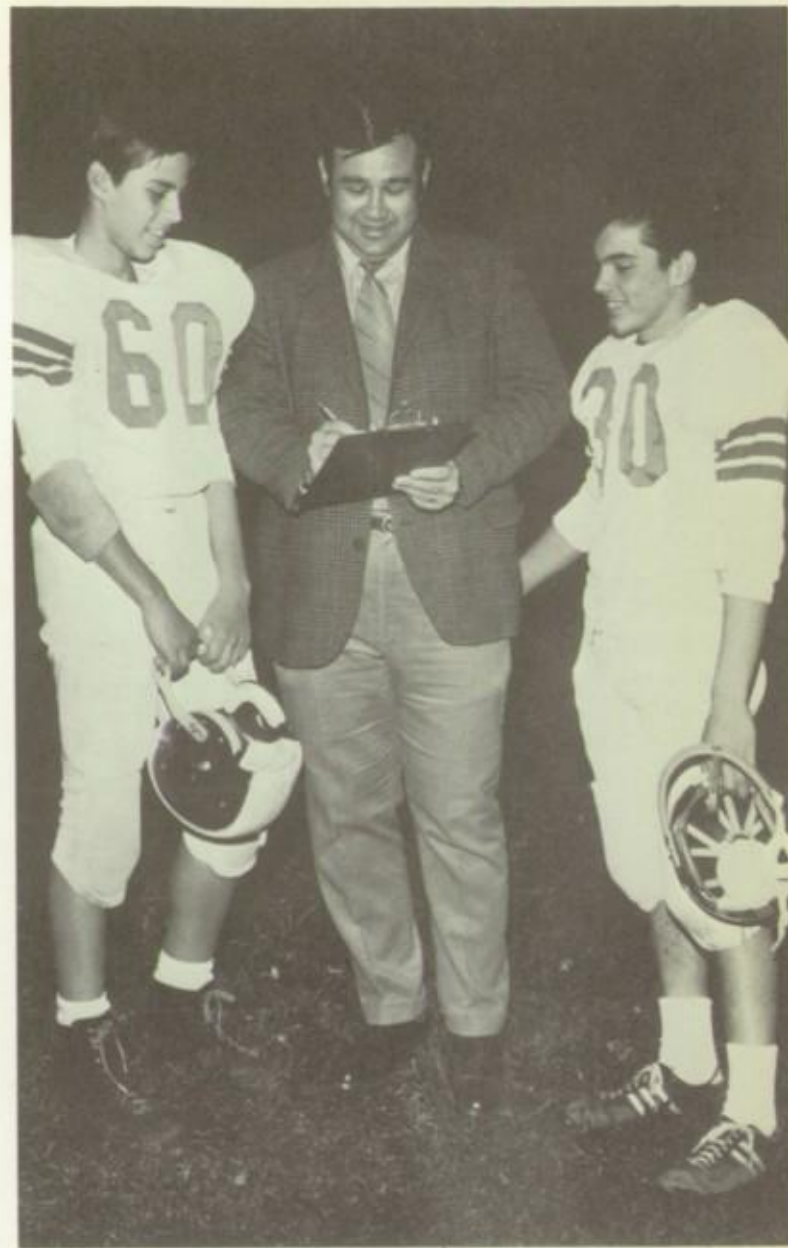

The 1969-70 Varsity Football Squad

Pete Calabrese signals for the kickoff.

The men in football each year begin a vigorous season long before school commences in the fall. The contenders for this sport are rugged, each undergoing long hours of practice, bruise on top of bruises, plus the total exhaustion after a big game. All their efforts are for the greater glory of RMHS. To their loyal fans, they bring many thrilling moments, joys of victory, and infrequently, the distress of defeat. These are the men of football.

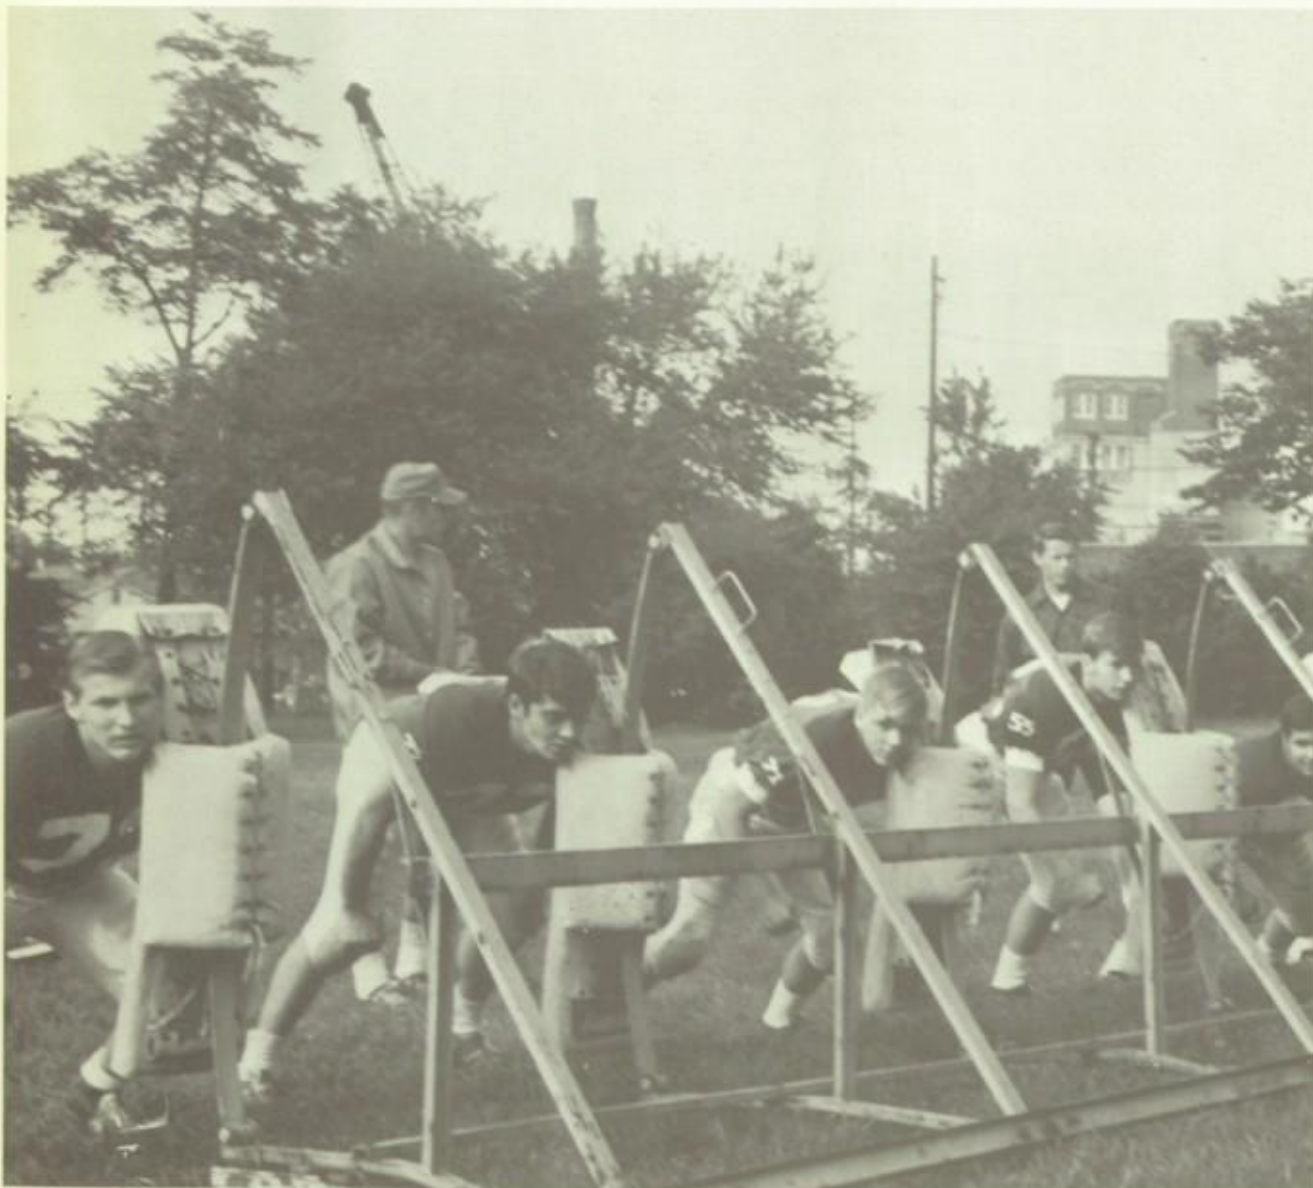

Matty Congilose "sustains a bruise."

Jeff Chiesa, fleetfootingly outran his Viking pursuer to get the touchdown.

Pre-season "digging" for the men on the line.

Coach Gable gets congratulations for a job well done.

Quarterback Steve Santora scrambles away from a Glen Ridge defender.

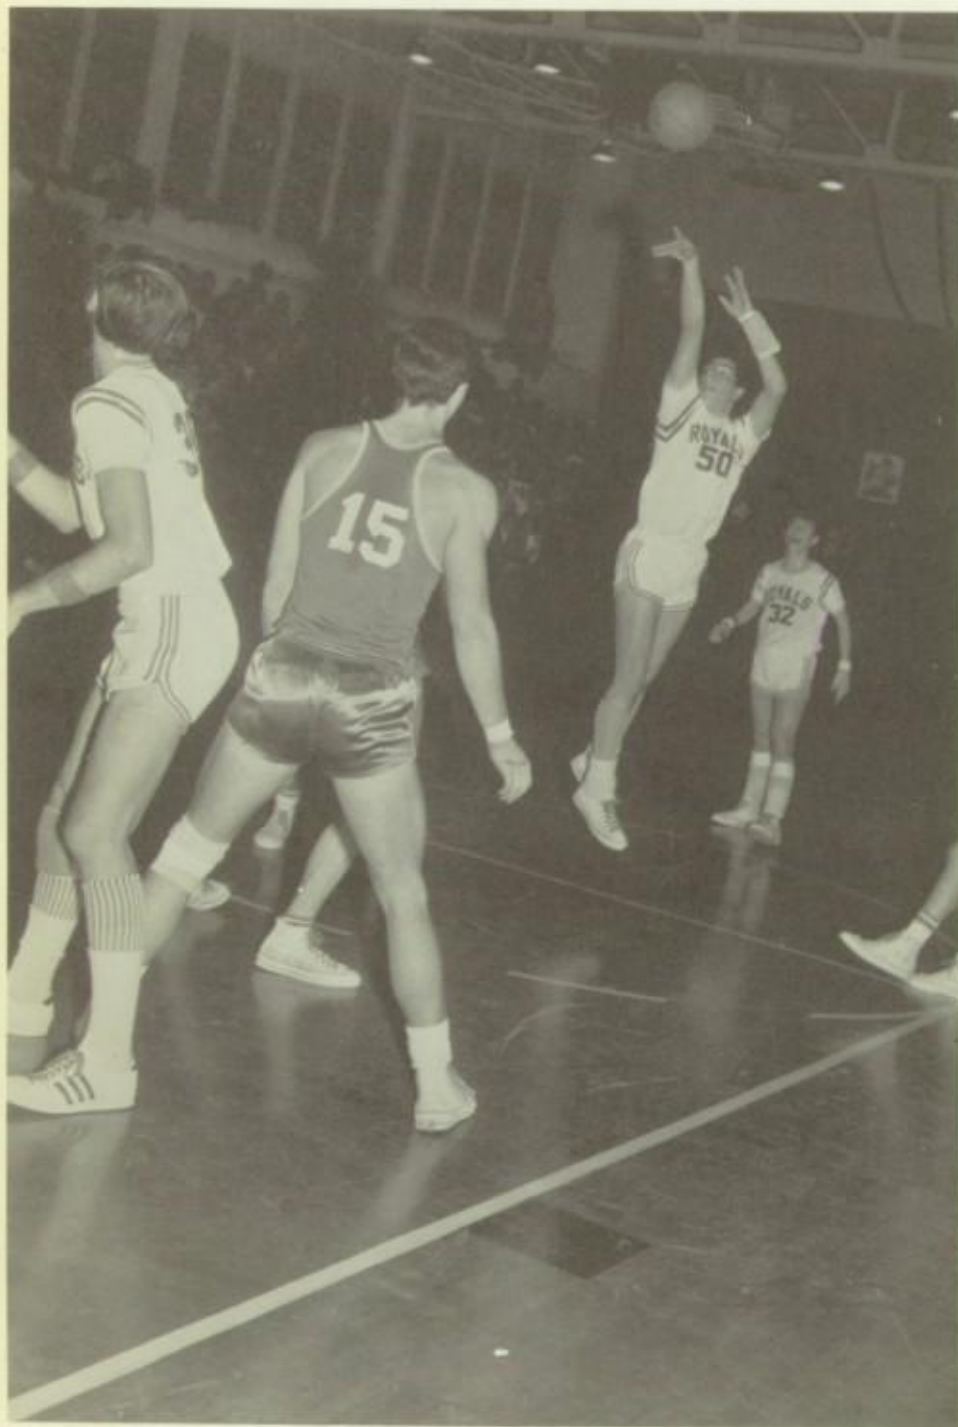

It was hard to catch Pete Calabrese. He escaped this one too.

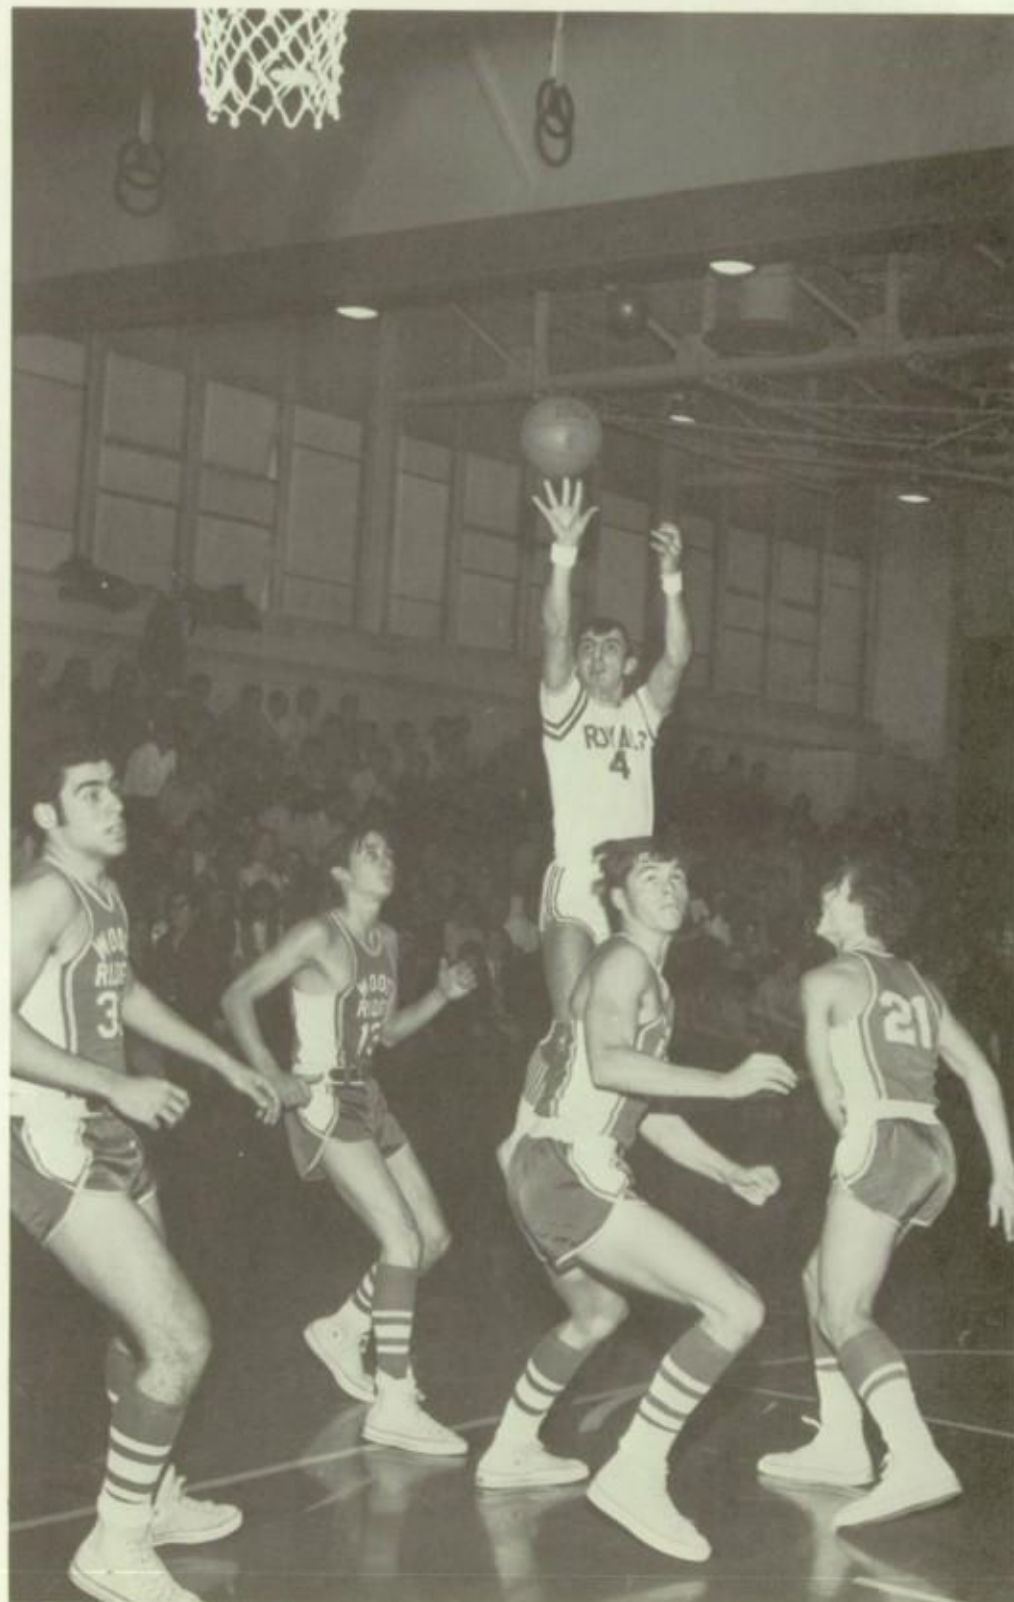

Bill Ehrlich prepares to rocket forward with the snap to quarterback Steve Santora.

The 1969-70 Varsity Squad and Coach Michael Calabrese.

Chris Pellino goes for two from the foul line.

Pete Calabrese's strategy: When you can't get inside, shoot from the outside.

Rich Sanzari agilely picked his way in and out of his towering opponents.

Basketball

The 1969-70 Varsity Basketball Team preserved the legacy of Ridgefield's unpredictable strength in the basketball world as an annual contender for the state basketball crown.

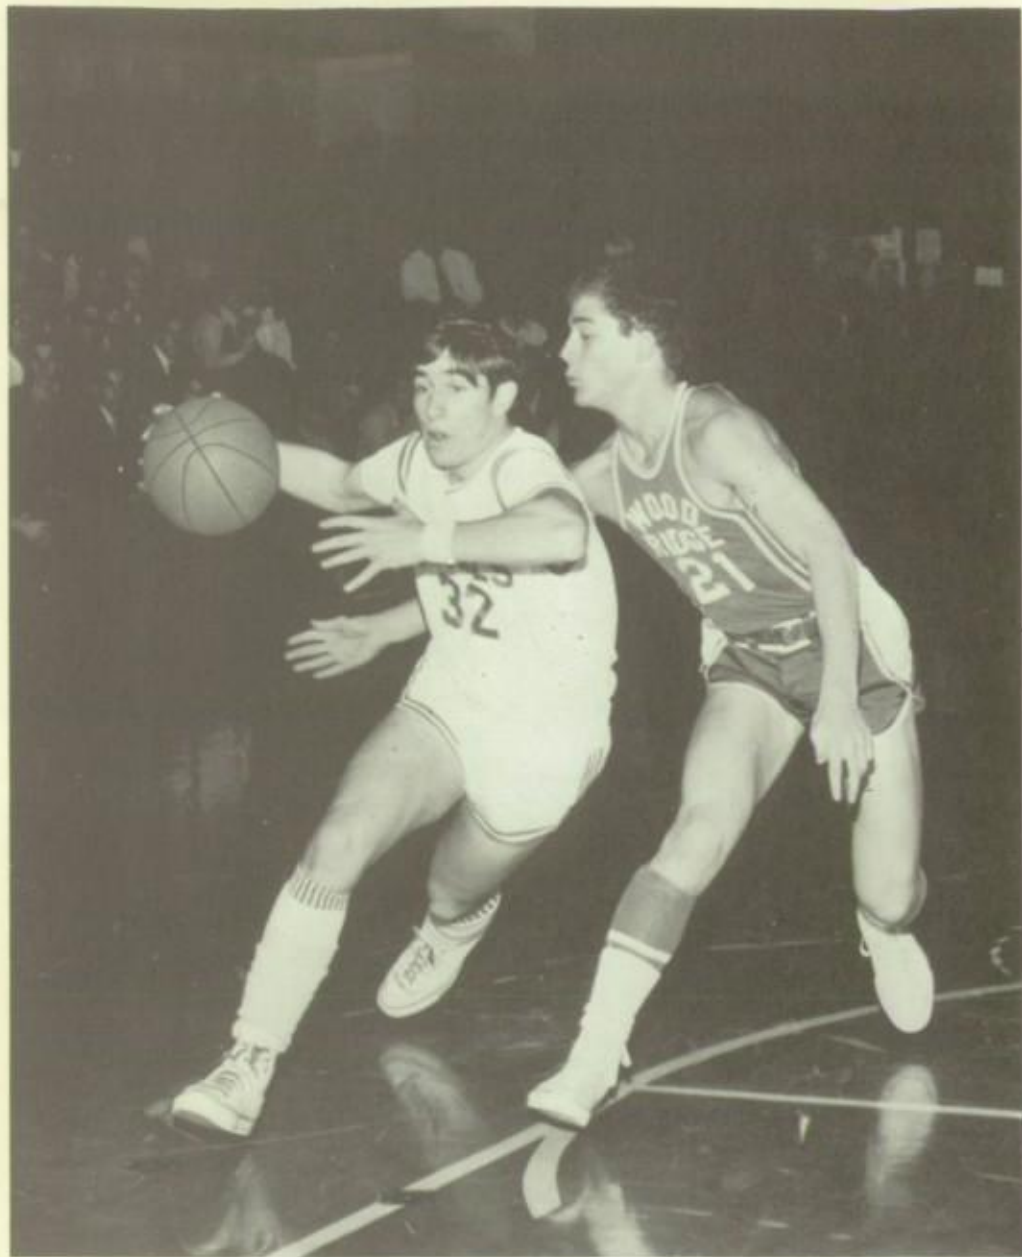

Though working under a new coach, Mr. Michael Calabrese, and frequently dwarfed in size, sometimes in skill, the Royals proved that "hustle" was all that was necessary to make a winning team. Ridgefield heartbreakingly relinquished the conference title, but determined to make up for it in the state tournament. Ridgefield proved her determination winning the first three games by wide margins. But in the final game for the sectional championship, Ridgefield's hopes were daunted by 6' 7" Les Cason and his towering East Rutherford teammates. Though the Royals lost in the last three seconds, 72-71, the game actually proved a victory in that it strengthened Ridgefield's reign as basketball champions—a reign that will not end in the foreseeable future.

We still haven't figured out whether Pete used springs or flubber to get that high.

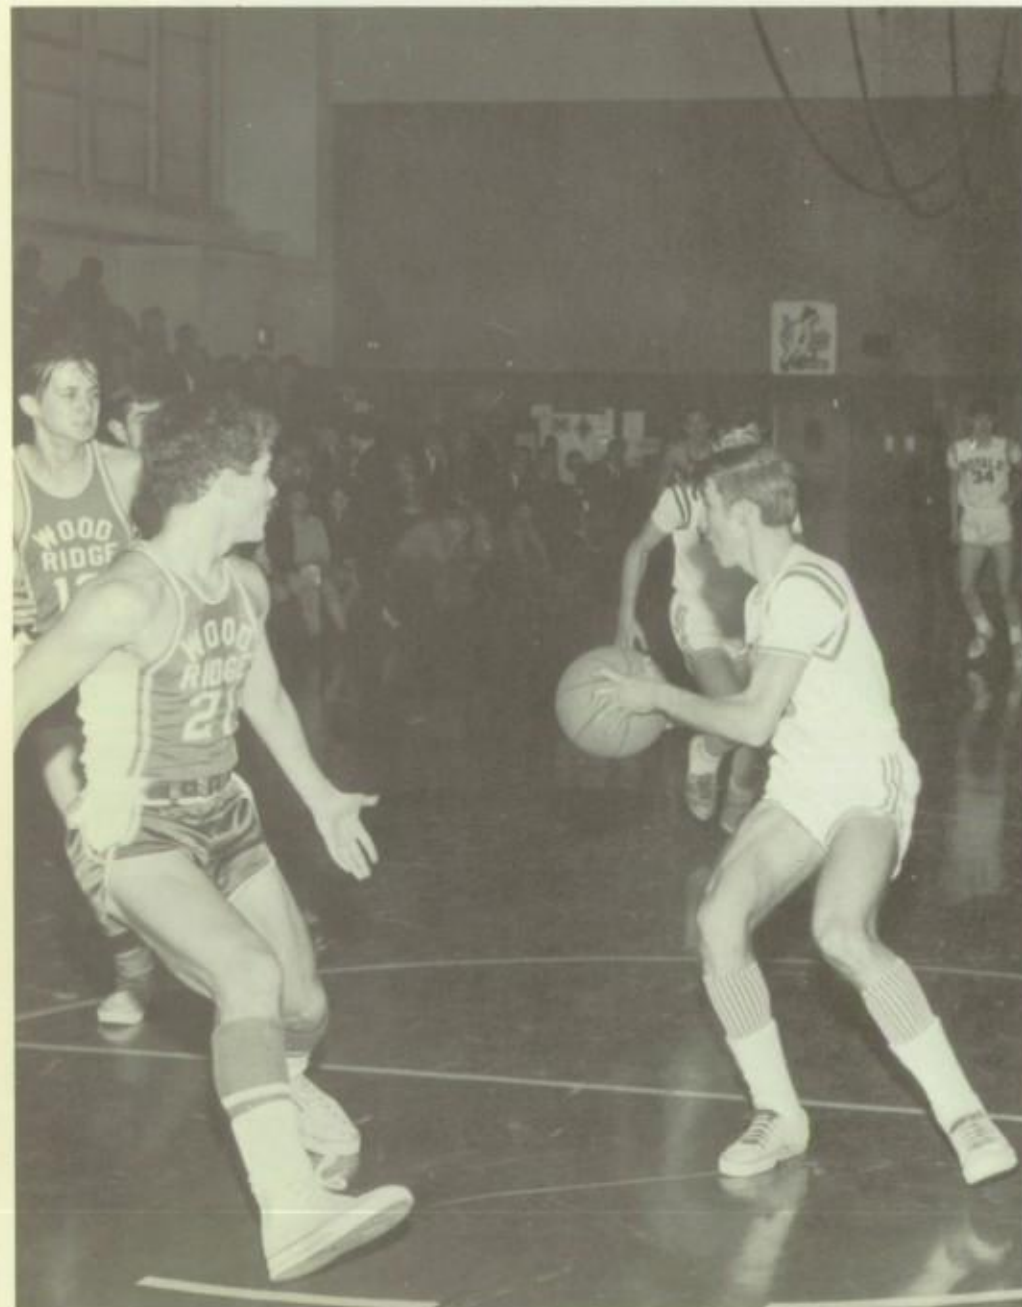

Big-Lou goes up for two.

Joe Lopian demonstrates the "HUSTLE" technique.

John Avery gets an easy basket against the Wood-Ridge defenders.

Tom Nathanson searches for a receiver.

Coach Calabrese and the team relax with a wide third quarter margin.

The Junior Varsity Squad, managers and Coach Edwin Jaworski.

"Seniors, are you with us?" Yea, Yea . . .

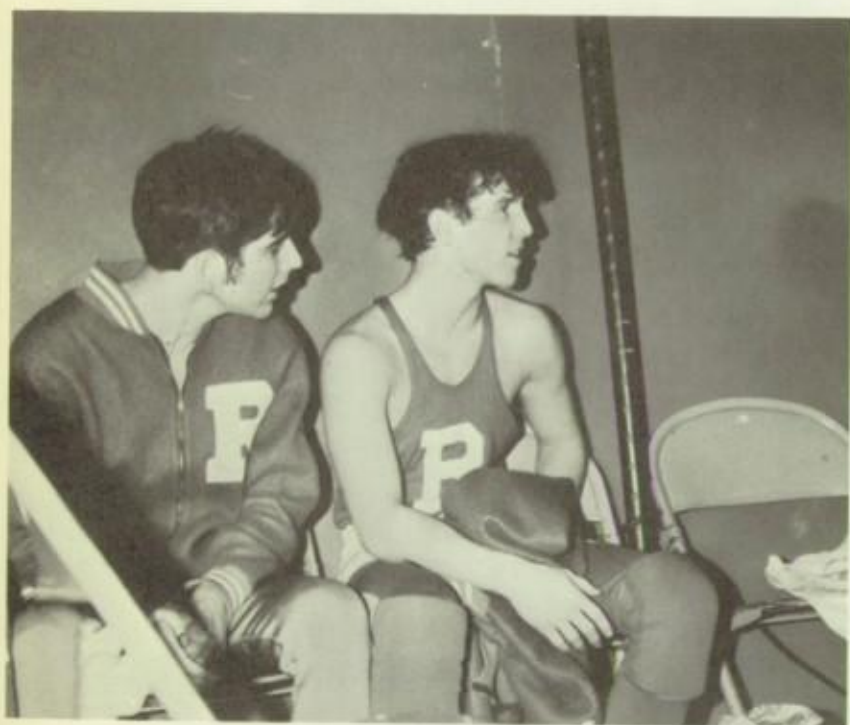

Mascot Carbone

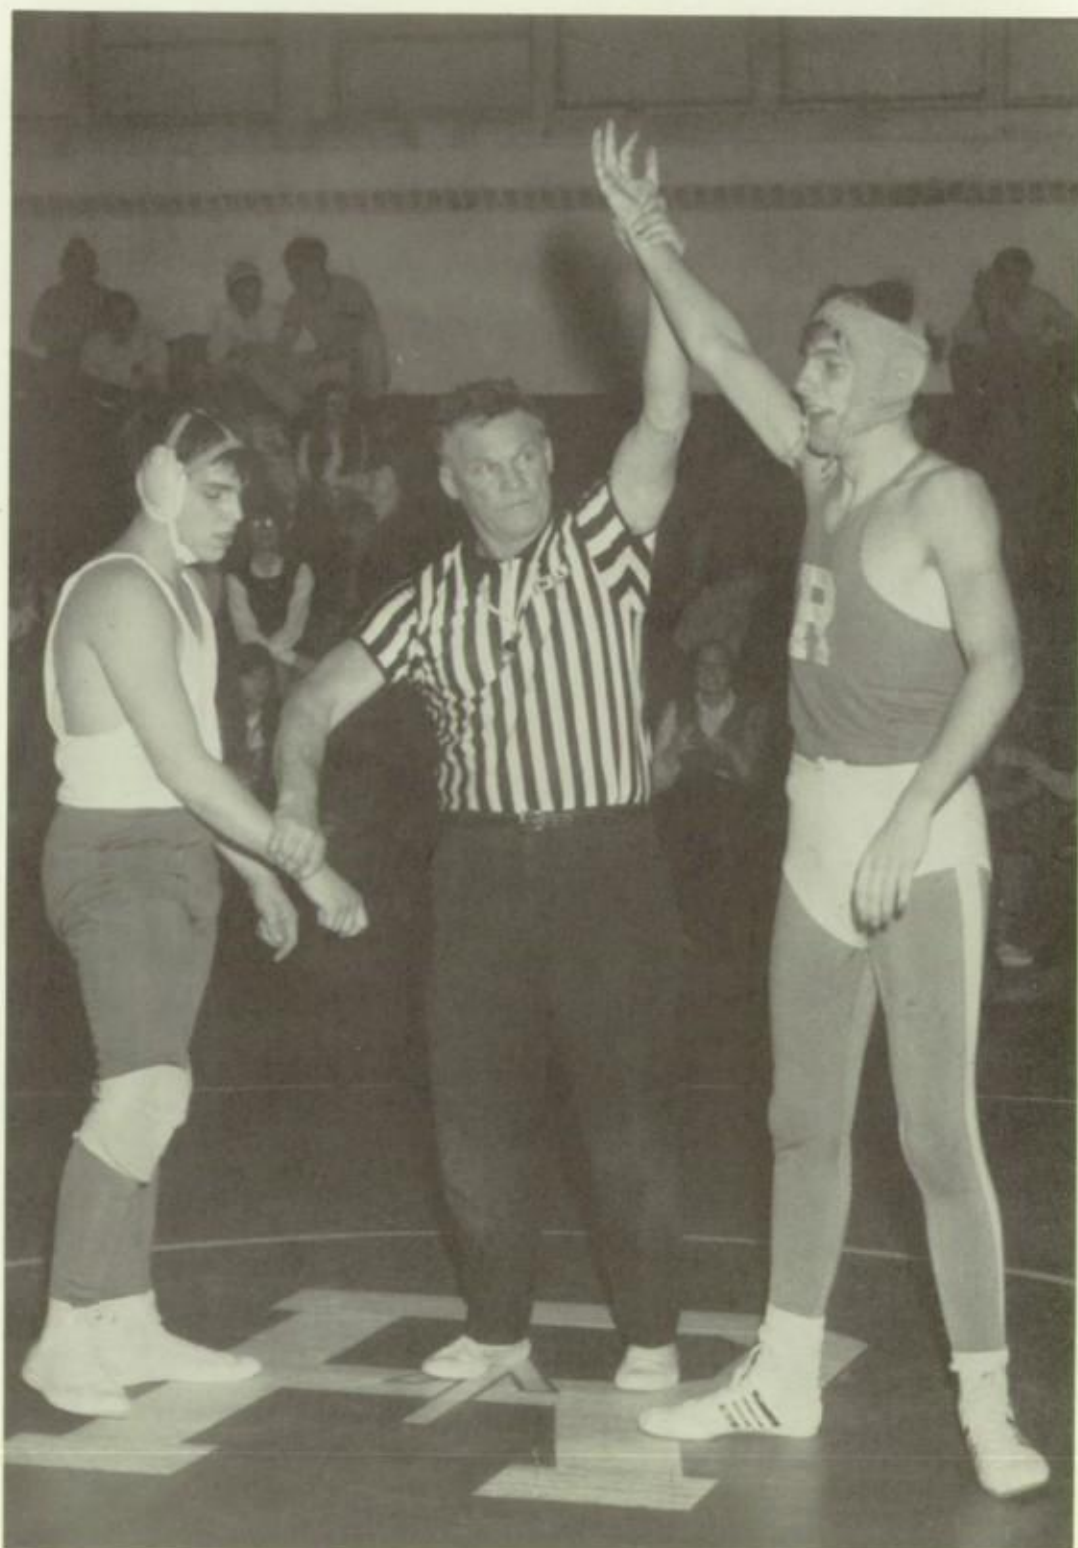

The Freshman Squad, managers and Coach John Stack.

The Royal Grapplers—Front row, Varsity, Back row, JVs.

Seniors Richie and Ricky.

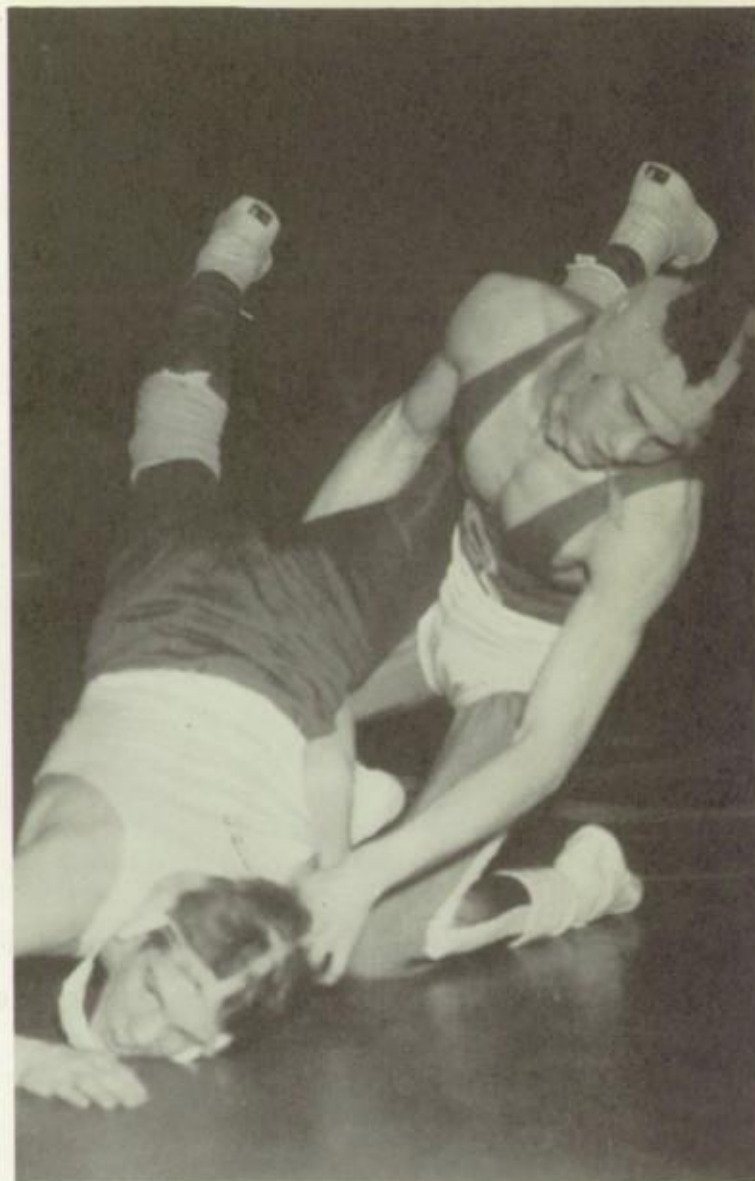

"Now, Richie, put him down gently."

Wrestling

Wrestling, though played in teams, is an individual sport. Each wrestler must work himself into top physical condition, since there will be no one who will help him when he goes onto the grappling mat. Though there is no wrestling conference, the Royals ended with a record in the scheduled matches.

Because of a lesser interest in wrestling, the Royals were often forced to forfeit in the lighter weight classes. These points often proved the deciding factor in the match. The team is coached by Mr. Dominick Milone.

"You should have stuck to the Garden Club," say Jeremy.

Senior Wrestlers (L. to R.) Doug Walsh, Richie Rosenberg, Ricky Carp, Warren Fristensky and Rich Jurasin.

The 1969-70 Varsity Baseball Team

Baseball

The Ridgefield batmen, like all athletes, underwent a long physical training period and exhausting hours of practice before they were ready for the first game against the traditional rival, Leonia.

This year, the team enjoys all new equipment and uniforms to help rouse the spirit and attain victory. Baseball is unusual in that it employs teamwork on the defense and individual achievement on the offense.

The team has been called one of the fastest teams in the league, and the team did enjoy success this season behind the experienced pitching of Lou Wejnert and Jeff Chiesa, and the superior fielding of Pete Calabrese, Bob D'Emidio, Jim Klein, and Steve Peek.

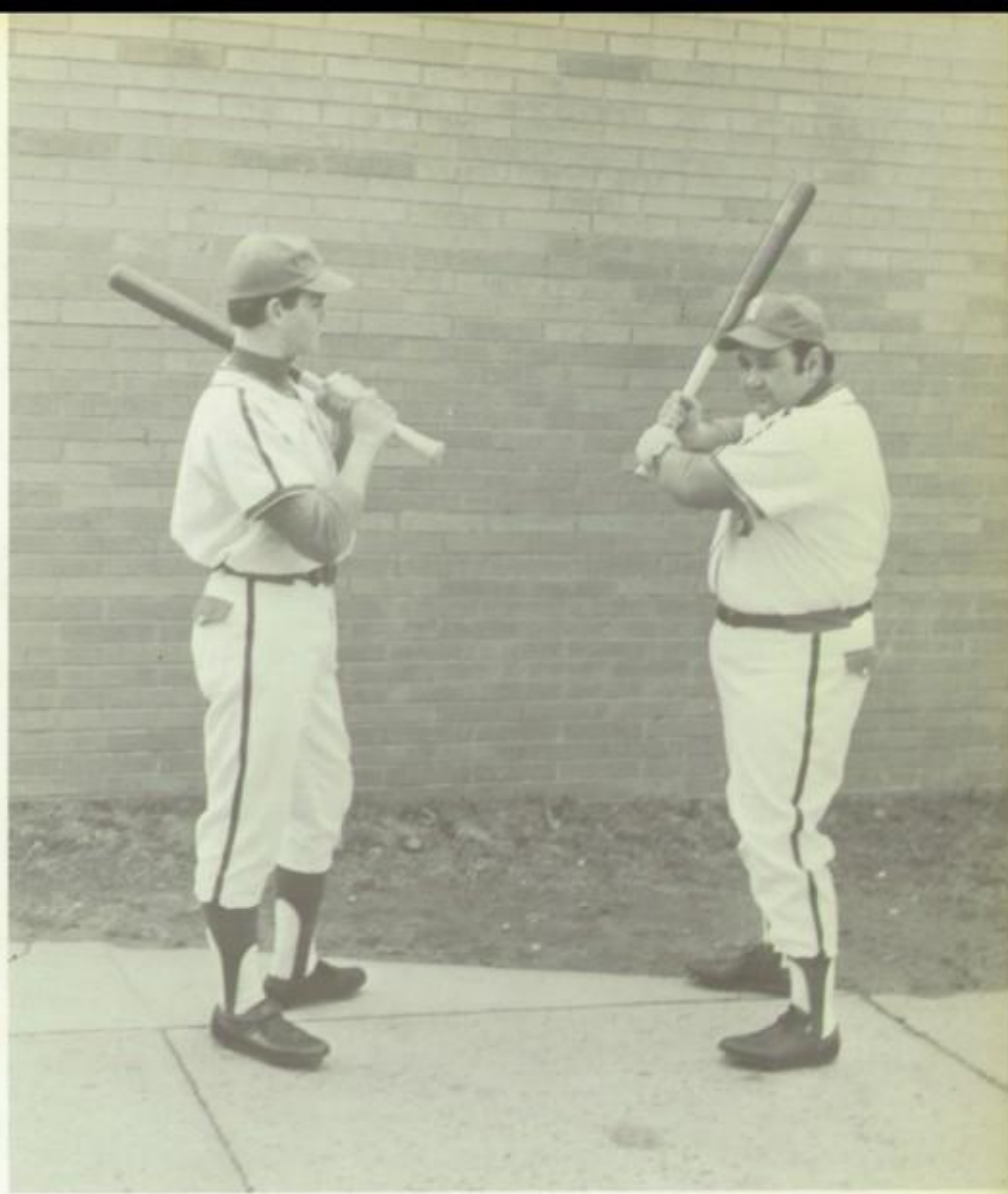

Catcher Steve Peek

Jim Klein and Bob D'Emidio work with the weighted bats.

SENIOR HURLERS—Jeff Chiesa and Lou Wejnert.

Uniform-clad Coach Strangia gives Lenny Marano some batting stance pointers.

Hi Coral:

We are so happy to send our congratulations and wish you every success in the future. With your ability and perseverance we know you will achieve success in whatever you do.

Our love and best wishes will always be with you.

Greetings Coral:

I hope you will remember your first day at my school and the interest you caused as the new girl from America. It was a happy time and I recall the day your Grandmother came to tell me you were returning home. We all wished you well then, and now on your graduation year, we do most sincerely send you our good wishes and wish you every happiness and success in the future.

Best wishes from your first

Dearest Coral:

On this important occasion of your graduation we wish you happiness, good health and good fortune. May you always have the will and determination to work and strive for all that is fine and good.

We have missed you greatly through the years and hope that someday you will be able to return, even if just for a visit, to your family and friends in New Zealand.

Congratulations dear, we are so proud that you belong to us. God bless you always.

Love,

Here's a letter from Ann, who switched her radio dial to a station she had never listened to before:

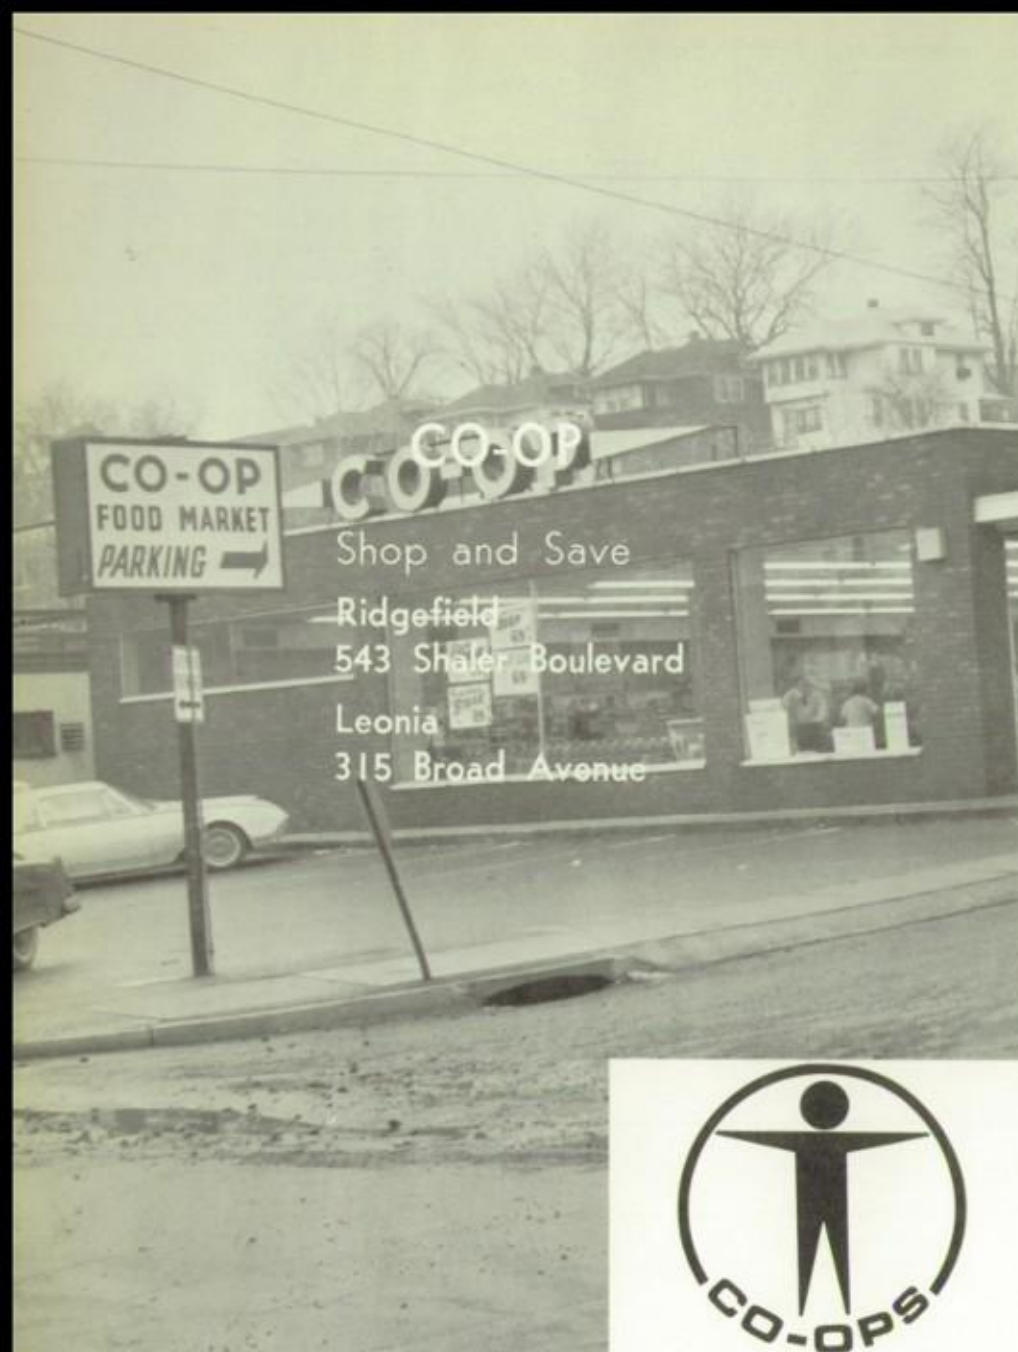

"I'm a soon-to-be 16 year old girl," she writes. "Normally I only listen to rock 'n' roll stations, but I tuned in to your show [she is referring to a Christian broadcast called 'A Look at the Book'] quite accidentally on Friday morning and heard you speak on '10 Seconds to Live.' Because I was lying quietly in bed, I could really listen and take the time to think about what you were saying."

"I never thought about having only 10 seconds to live—not even when I was in a motorcycle accident two months ago. But your show made me realize that one of these days, since death is inevitable, I, too, am going to have only 10 seconds to live."

"I hope that my thoughts then are only of God, and that He will be willing to listen to me, because I'll surely be asking Him for mercy. Would you please send me a copy of your broadcast, '10 Seconds to Live,' as I want my friends to read it. I hope it will make them, too, start to prepare for the day when they have only 10 seconds left to live."

Let's face it—death is inevitable. The Bible warns us, "It is appointed to men once to die, and after that the judgment." Do you think you will have time to be sorry for your neglect of God at the very end of your life? God offers you pardon now, if you will come to Him on His terms. He had such compassion on you that He sent Christ to pay the penalty for your sins long before you were born. If you will receive Him as your Saviour, and come to Him in true repentance and faith, He will give you a new life now, and all the joys of heaven hereafter.

A black and white photograph of the exterior of a building named 'Dian Photo'. The building features a modern design with a series of vertical metal poles supporting a perforated metal screen. To the left, there is a brick wall and a set of stairs leading up to a platform. The sky is clear and bright.
